Chouteau tow road needs exceed funds

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

While flooded roads on Chouteau Island and elsewhere in Chouteau Township continue to deteriorate, the township highway department is facing a financial crisis which threatens to halt all road repairs.

Jim Estes, highway commissioner for the township, reported his department now has debts of more than $20,000 and his four full-time employees have not been paid for a week and a half.

The workers have been assured they will be paid when tax collections begin or when other funds, such as federal revenue sharing, arrive. But no one can predict how long, or how soon, that may be.

A regular meeting of the Chouteau Town Board scheduled Monday night to discuss road and bridge matters was cancelled because of the lack of road and bridge funds, Mrs. Patricia Polley, town clerk, said. No road funds or services could be paid before the next meeting May 21.

Estes blames the crisis on the failure of the township's citizens to pass a special hard road referendum for the third consecutive year at the annual township meeting.

He said the department has a $10,000 bill due for road oil from last year and he already has borrowed $10,000 through sale of the anticipation warrants for department operations. The money has been spent.

Flooding on Chouteau Island demolished the department's storage shed and one highway department truck inside.

Estes said he is hoping for flood relief funds, but prospects of immediate relief seem dim.

The highway commissioner said that at the river's highest stage, about 12 miles of township roads were under water. This week he estimated about five miles remain flooded.

"It costs about $2,000 per mile to patch and oil rock these roads and we just do not have the money," Estes declared.

He said during the flood peak he hired four part-time men at $4 per hour to man pumps around-the-clock for almost two weeks.

"They were hired with the understanding their time slips would be turned over to Civil Defense for payment and if Civil Defense would not pay their wages, they would not be paid," Estes explained.

Civil Defense officials said they were unfamiliar with the arrangement and were investigating.

Estes also said he does not know what the gasoline bill will be for operating four pumps 24 hours-per-day during the flood peak, but estimated about 200 gallons of gasoline were consumed each day by the pumps.

"We have no money to pay that, either," he commented.

Despite the financial difficulties, his department continues in operation, he said.

Recent efforts have been directed toward stopping the seepage of water under Route Three just north of Interstate 270.

He said there is about three feet of standing water on the west side of Route Three and about one foot of water — and rising — on the east side of the highway.

A culvert under the roadway has been blocked with debris and was sandbagged, but the water continues to seep through, flooding the yards of homes east of Route Three, he related.

ROAD REPAIR SHUTDOWN is feared due to heavy damage to Chouteau Township roads and an "in the red" road fund. This photo shows a section of the South Slough Road, situated west of Highway Three, east of the Chain of Rocks Canal and south of Chain of Rocks Road.

Nameoki trash collection plan not permitted by state law

Nameoki Township will not be allowed to use federal revenue sharing funds to provide free trash collection service for township residents, Louis Whitself, township supervisor, announced Tuesday.

Whitself said an opinion from the township's attorney, William Schooley, said it would be illegal for the township to provide the service as a township operation under the Township Refuse Collection Act passed by the state earlier this year.

The act would allow the township to "contract" with private haulers to provide trash collection, but Whitself said he did not feel the township could afford to contract for the service.

"We expect to receive about $50,000 per year from revenue sharing and the cheapest contract we could obtain is about $100,000 per year," the supervisor explained.

He said Schooley's opinion is a "firm" opinion and likely will not be changed.

"The act says it in black and white and it almost makes me sick," Whitself said.

"The original House bill said the township could contract for $50,000 in subsequent years.

"I still support a program whereby the township will pick up limbs and trash, sweep streets and clean ditches with revenue sharing but we'll have to leave the garbage collection to private haulers," Whitself said.

Township residents in February indicated a preference for trash collection over other proposals in ballots printed in area newspapers and mailed to the township office.

The auditors had been studying a program to purchase two trash trucks and provide trash collection, street sweeping and environmental clean-up. The estimated cost for the first year, including down payment on the trucks, was $57,516. The cost was expected to drop to about $30,000 in subsequent years.

Tax rate for city is down

A new Granite City tax rate of $1.42 per $100 assessed valuation—a decrease of 7.1 cents below last year's rate—has been extended by the tax division of the county clerk's office at Edwardsville. Last year's rate was $1.213.

The new rate is based on a property valuation of $187,782 for the 1972 tax year, a drop of $10,106,122 below last year's total Granite City assessment.

The new rate will be used in preparing tax bills for collection this year.

A decrease in the city rate in the face of lower property values resulted from the elimination of four accounts that were extended in the 1971 tax levy but not carried over into the 1972 tax extension.

A breakdown of the $1.42 rate shows that a majority of the rates for separate accounts have increased, but these were offset by the removal of the four accounts not included in the 1972 levy.

Accounts for which taxes were levied a year ago, but not extended for separate accounts this year, included 9.85 cents for a separate sewers fund, 1.2 for hydrant rental, a 1.21 cent rate for school crossing guards, and 3 of one cent for employment of a traffic engineer.

The new city rate includes 27.32 cents for general fund purposes, up from last year's 25.2 cents, and 16.39 cents for fire protection, up from 15.11 cents.

For garbage collection purposes the new rate is 13.12 cents, up from 11.8 cents. The tax extensions for fire and police pensions also increased.

The rate for fire pensions is extended at 9.74 cents, up from 8.74 cents.

6.54 cents, and for police pension, was fixed at 6.43 cents, up from 5.85 cents.

For library purposes, the new rate is 14.21 cents, compared to last year's 11.1 cents, and for payment of bonds and interest the new rate is 9.72 cents, up slightly from 9.2 cents.

Other new rate extensions included in the overall $1.42, with City's comparisons in parentheses, are:

Street lighting, 3.28 cents (4.16); Street and bridge, 6.56 cents (10.08); judgments, 2.78 cents (3.86); municipal retirement, 4.39 cents (4.45); Civil Defense, 26 of one cent (.82).

Ninth sewer break

Another break in a sanitary sewer line—the ninth in the past two months—has developed in the Nameoki sewer area, bringing to more than $250,000 the estimated cost of repairs and sewer line replacements that will be necessitated by breaks occurring so far this year.

Portell said the new break is in the easement behind 1505 St. Clair Ave., between St. Clair and Joy Avenue.

Portell said that it is impossible to reach the broken line which is sheared off near the St. Clair Avenue manhole. The high water table, as it has in all other sewer breaks occurring during the past two months, is preventing workers from reaching the broken lines to make repairs.

Pumps were placed in operation Tuesday to carry the sewage around the break. Pumping operations also are being conducted to keep sewage moving around other breaks, Portell said.

Portell said the city is confronted with a problem as severe as that in 1969 when a series of more than 25 sewer breaks in the Nameoki area resulted in repair costs exceeding $1 million.

"There are indications of other breaks or pending breaks, and we have no way of knowing how extensive the damage from the high water table might be. We can't reach the breaks to make repairs because we can't repair sewer lines under water. Until the water level goes down, we must resort to pumping to keep the sewage moving," Portell said.

Prior to development of the new break, Portell said he had estimated damages caused by sewer breaks at $210,000 in a damage claim to be filed with the Civil Defense Agency under the flood disaster relief program in which municipalities and other taxing agencies will be allocated funds to repair public facilities damaged as a result of the flood.

"Because of the new break and the possibility of several more, this estimate will have to be increased to

New setback on treatment

A new setback was dealt Granite City's secondary sewage treatment program Monday night when the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency notified City Council members that it is holding up certification of an application for a federal grant because of differences over the designed size of the proposed new treatment plant.

Thomas N. Ehlman, manager of the state EPA's grant division, informed the city that the Illinois EPA has refused to approve the grant application because the city's plans for construction of a plant with a capacity of handling 23 million gallons per day does not conform with recommendations of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

SIMAPC has recommended a 20 million gallon plant based on area growth projection to 1990, but the city has maintained the 23 million gallon plant is justified because the treatment facilities eventually will be used by a number of surrounding communities.

Aaron Pierson, vice-president of the M.W. Inc., St. Louis engineering firm which designed the proposed treatment plant, told council members that unless the matter is resolved on the basis of 23 million gallon planning, the city is faced with redesigning the treatment facility.

"Because of the additional expenses of engineering and the additional time required resulting in rising construction costs, we would find ourselves in the position of designing a smaller plant at an eventual cost that would exceed what it would cost us to go ahead now and build the larger plant," Pierson said.

Ehlman's notice was in direct contrast to an earlier notice received by the city in early April in which William H. Busch, manager of the Illinois EPA Permit Section, announced the issuance of a permit for building a plant designed at the 23 million gallon capacity.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he thanked Monday with Warren P. Miller, manager of the Planning Section of the Division of Water Pollution Control, and was given no encouragement that the EPA decision would be changed unless SIMAPC revised the Interim Water Quality Management Program which includes the recommendation for a 20 million gallon plant construction.

Schuler said there is a possibility that SIMAPC engineers may revise the program to justify the 23 million gallon design by using a growth projection to the year 1985.

Failing this, he said, the city may be forced to redesign the entire secondary sewage treatment program at a considerable additional cost to the city.

Pierson said the delay resulting from the new problem "means we have lost our contract" on a bid figure of $108 million submitted by a St. Louis construction firm. The deadline for signing a firm contract under the $108 million bid is May 15.

The problem was referred by the council to its sewer committee.

Salvation Army needs revenue for flood aid

Persons who lost their homes and belongings in floodwaters of the Mississippi River, particularly those from Chouteau Island, continue receiving services from volunteers in this area and from the Salvation Army.

Capt. Ronald Kerley, local SA commander, reported that 111 persons were served during the past week and some of these persons' members of 28 families, have found it necessary to return to the Salvation Army more than once since their homes were destroyed.

The SA has been distributing more than one ton of food plus clothing, linens, shoes, cleaning supplies and furniture. A large indebtedness has been incurred, but Capt. Kerley said he feels the obligations will be met, due to the generosity of local clubs, churches, school children and individuals.

He said cash donations would be welcome at the Citadel, 909 Grand Ave., or may be sent in care of the Salvation Army, Box 338, Granite City.

"We have seen tears shed over a lifetime lost floating down river," Kerley said, noting a few of the miseries he has seen since the flood began.

"One family mentioned that in opening the front door of its home, the door came just fell off. There are warped floors, plaster falling from walls and ceilings, houses off their foundations, dead livestock and chickens hanging from trees.

"Family life styles have been disrupted completely. No matter what we replace in the material sense, their lives will never be quite the same.

"We just want to be of service to our fellow man and we pray God's blessing upon each and everyone," Capt. Kerley concluded.

Challenge police board

The legal status of Granite City's Board of Fire and Police Commissioners which includes two new members appointed by Mayor Paul Schuler was challenged during the regular City Council meeting Monday night by Warren L. Decatur, a member of the board whose term was to expire this year.

In a letter directed to the mayor and members of the council, Decatur said he considers the present board of commissioners "illegally constituted" because of state and municipal codes pertaining to the political alignments of board members and procedure for replacing board members.

In addition, Decatur said, he still considers himself a member of the fire and police board until a successor is "appointed and qualified."

Schuler announced the appointment of George Becker, a business representative of the United Steelworkers of America, and Homer "Cal" Bendick, a railroad employee and former city clerk, as two of the three board members when Schuler took office as mayor early this month.

They were to replace Ralph Elliott, former board chairman who submitted a resignation, and Decatur, whose term expired. The third member of the board is Miss Hetty Sheppard.

Mayor Schuler said Monday night that he will seek a legal opinion on the laws quoted by Decatur.

The council referred the matter to the city attorney, although Leon Scroggins, city attorney under former Mayor Donald Parney, has not appeared at a meeting since the change in administration. Schuler has not yet appointed a new city attorney.

Decatur's letter to the council said:

"We note that Mayor Schuler has appointed George Becker and Homer Pendleton to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners. Information we have indicates that both appointees are registered Democrats. If this is true the board is not legally constituted. Miss Hetty Sheppard, secretary of the board is also a registered Democrat. Miss Sheppard has one year of her term of office remaining.

"Chapter 24—Cities & Villages, Municipal Code, Division 21 Section 10-2.1-3 states, 'No more than 2 members of the board shall belong to the same political party existing in such municipality at the time of such appointments and as defined in Section 10-2 of the Election Code.'

"We would like to refer to the Municipal Code in relation to removal of members with unexpired terms. The code, Family pages begin on Page 14 Section 10-2.1-3 states, 'Members shall not be subject to removal by Decatur.'

McCauley awards to be presented at high school

Establishment of the Lawrence C. McCauley Memorial Awards to honor the late principal of Granite City High School has been announced by school officials.

Mr. McCauley was a veteran principal and teacher at the school before he retired at the end of the 1971-72 school year. He died last summer.

An award is to be presented to one boy and one girl from each graduating class of Granite City High School South to be presented during the Recognition Day Assembly.

The amount of each cash award is to be determined by the principal. It has been recommended that $50 be awarded or during the semester preceding his graduation. The primary consideration is that he be a good citizen.

Recipients will be selected in April when teachers will submit names of candidates to a committee consisting of a representative from each department. Names of five boys and five girls will be placed on a ballot, and the faculty and administrators will vote for their choices.

The following is to be read during the presentation:

"A good citizenship award is given to a boy and a girl of each graduating class in memory of Lawrence C. McCauley, principal of this high school from 1955 through 1972."

Bicentennial Commission names Karandjeff, Daily

At a meeting of the Madison County Bicentennial Commission meeting the commission took additional steps to initiate various activities for the Heritage '76 Bicentennial Celebration.

As the first step, the commission elected as co-chairmen, Henry D. Karandjeff of Granite City to represent Madison County and Charles Daily of Belleville to represent St. Clair County.

Miss Delores Perry was elected as secretary. Initial appointments were made to six committees, each of which will be working in specific areas of the overall program representing Horizons '76, the Festival of '76 and Heritage '76.

Since the Bicentennial Celebration is to be initiated July 1975, and continued through July 5, 1976, one of the commission's concerns is the need to involve all interested people at the earliest possible date so that programs can be properly established and be ready by July 5, 1975.

The commission and committee members are inviting from throughout the area all persons who have specific interest in the program.

The State and Federal Bicentennial Commissions will be contracted for informational materials and programs to further inform people of the details of the Bicentennial Celebration, and to assist organizations and local units of government with the activities that they will be undertaking.

As the program advances, additional committees probably will be established, directed to specific projects, interest groups or subject areas.

It is the hope of the Madison County Bicentennial Commission that interest and participation in the program will be extended throughout the area and programs arranged so Madison and St. Clair Counties will be full partners and beneficiaries in the National Celebration of the Nation's 200 Year Anniversary, officers said.

GC woman winner of lighting competition

Dorothy L. Davis of Granite City, Monday night received first place in the regional applied residential lighting contest held by the Illuminating Engineering Society of America in Kansas City. The award automatically enrolls her entry in the national judging to be held in July in Philadelphia, Pa.

Each year the Illuminating Engineering Society sponsors lighting competition for the most outstanding solution to a lighting problem. Competition is held for both residential and commercial applications, on a yearly basis.

Miss Davis' entry of her design for the William Craven home near Glen Carbon, won first place in the sectional competition held in St. Louis March 15. Her entry offered a practical as well as decorative solution to many unique lighting problems.

Miss Davis, who resides at 2725 Harvey Place, is a past chairman of the St. Louis Chapter of the Illuminating Engineering Society, and is employed as a lighting and heating consultant for Illinois Power Co. in its Granite City office.

Body of woman missing 6 weeks found in river

The body of Mrs. Ruth Lorene Ray, 38, of 1255 Niedringhaus Ave., was recovered from the Mississippi River at East St. Louis at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday. She had been missing since March 25.

A motorist on Dr. Martin Luther King Bridge reported seeing the body in the water, clad in a blue windbreaker jacket and blue jeans. A rescue unit of the East St. Louis Fire Department took the body from the water.

An autopsy showed no signs of foul play and drowning was listed as the apparent cause of death.

Mrs. Ray has been missing since a motorist on McKinley Bridge in Venice reported seeing someone standing on the bridge railing as though about to jump into the water March 25.

Vernon Brown, a toll collector said that a short time earlier a woman driving a car told him the auto he would find on the bridge belonged to Charlie Ray.

Later the car was found abandoned on the bridge and shoe prints and finger prints were found beside it on the bridge railing. A search that night was unsuccessful.

Atkinson out, 4 St. Louis groups may be combined

Milton A. Atkinson Jr. will be replaced June 1 by Harry T. Morley Jr. as executive vice-president and chief administrator of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association and St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Morley, 41, a former aide to St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos, since 1970 has been with the U. S. Housing and Urban Development Department, first as Kansas City regional administrator and then as deputy assistant secretary of HUD.

He will be paid $75,000, compared to Atkinson's $40,000. The latter will become national sales manager of Communio, a subsidiary of Maritz, Inc. The unit markets audio-visual business communication equipment.

The Growth Association is an umbrella organization for the Former war prisoners tell of exhilaration on release

There were not many conflicts among American prisoners of war while they were in captivity in North Vietnam, because they all had a common cause, according to Maj. Thomas E. Norris of Godfrey.

"If you can imagine what it would be like to live in a closet for two or three years . . . you can understand why we had to be tolerant of each other," Norris said.

Norris and Lt. Col. Philip Smith of Roodhouse spoke to 300 people in an informal question-and-answer session at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Tuesday about their captivity and their feelings upon their return to the United States.

Smith and Norris were asked by the government or the Air Force had prepared their speeches or instructed them in any way when they first landed in the Philippines after their release. Both agreed that if the speeches sounded redundant it was only because "we all had the same spontaneous feelings of exhilaration when we stepped off the plane."

Norris was captured when his aircraft was shot down over North Vietnam Aug. 12, 1967. Smith was reported missing Sept. 20, 1965. His reconnaissance aircraft had crossed the Chinese border, where it was downed. He spent nearly eight years as a prisoner in the People's Republic of China.

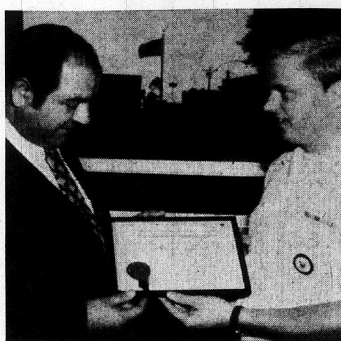

"The conditions (in the prison camp) were not so good, but the isolation was worse. I had no roommate and was in solitary confinement much of the time," Smith said. "I kept saying to myself, 'I can't survive this by using my mental processes, and thinking about my family.'"

Norris said he had memorized the names of 388 American prisoners he had known while in captivity and all of them were either returned or died while in captivity. He said he had no personal knowledge of men still listed as missing-in-action.

On the question of amnesty, Smith said the problem must be solved by those qualified to do so.

Norris said it would be nice to be able to forgive and forget, but "we can't grant a general amnesty because the men involved in the question of amnesty are breaking a federal law."

Asked to define Communism, Smith called it a lack of freedom and democracy. Norris said he would define it in two words, a "big lie."

Expanded committee activity by Chamber

Coordinated committee action based on specific objectives and timetables was outlined by Edward Reiske, new executive vice-president, at the May dinner of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board Tuesday night at Charlie's.

President Chester L. Baker presided. Mrs. Bonnie Sullivan was thanked for her service as acting Chamber manager during the first four months of this year.

Norman Hall, traffic committee chairman, said a conference will be held with district highway officials next week on easing Nameoki Road traffic congestion and extending the Great River Road south of Niedringhaus Avenue.

Richard Kerch, drainage committee head, reviewed continuing efforts to expedite Dorey Slough area drainage, and being issued with Chamber members and registration of new members.

Leo Kozum, junior college education chairman, noted Senate education committee approval of a bill which would permit a proposed new junior college district to cooperate with Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in use of instructors and facilities.

Large attendance is anticipated at the 1973 Chamber "play day" May 22. Chairman Herman Schroeder reported.

Claim forms for elderly tax aid ready to mail

More than 100,000 Illinois senior citizens and disabled persons who registered with the state for residential property tax relief grants can expect claim forms in the mail this week, Robert H. Alphin, state revenue director, announced.

"Claim-for-grant forms should not be returned to the Department of Revenue until eligible persons receive their 1972 property tax bills from the county," Alphin said.

"Upon receipt of the claim form, the department will compute the amount of a tax relief based on the property tax paid in 1973," he noted.

Those receiving claim-for-grant forms should read instructions carefully and use the pre-addressed label to expedite handling. They should also check the accuracy of the pre-addressed label on the form and correct possible errors before mailing to the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Under the Senior Citizens and Disabled Persons Property Tax Relief Act, effective this year, annual cash grants are available to eligible citizens who pay rent or property tax on homes. Claim forms to more than 30,000 persons who pay rent and are registered with the state were mailed in March.

"Tax relief grants presently being issued average about $130," Alphin said.

Persons eligible for cash grants who did not register with the department earlier this year may obtain instructions and forms from Illinois Department of Revenue offices or by writing to the Illinois Department of Revenue, P. O. Box 3124, Springfield, Ill. 62708. They should request Form IL-1333.

Claims must be filed before Sept. 15, 1973. Senior citizens or disabled persons who have questions may obtain assistance by calling the Illinois Department of Revenue in Chicago, 312-441-2150, or 217-525-3336 in Springfield.

Two hurt in crash at 12th and State

Two Venice men were injured when their southbound auto went out of control on State Street in Madison, struck a sign at Oscar's Phillips 66 service station, 1200 State St., and then struck a fire hydrant at 12th and State Streets, crossed 12th Street and struck a guide wire and a utility pole on the southeast corner of the intersection.

They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Harvey Lee, 39, of 1219 Douglas St., Venice, the driver, was treated for a broken right elbow and a 3/4 inch cut to the elbow. X-rays of his right knee, right leg, spine and chest were taken and he was released.

Woman reports theft, beating in her home

Mrs. Virginia Parker, 1514 Third St., Madison, told Madison police at 2:35 a.m. today that two men beat her, tied and gagged her and robbed her of $75 in her apartment. An investigation is underway.

She said she heard noises in her apartment so she picked up a hammer and investigated. In the kitchen a masked man reportedly confronted her and another masked man broke through the kitchen door and held her from behind.

While she was held, one man beat her, she said. Police were told she was bound and gagged and the men continued to beat her. They took the money from her purse and left, she said.

She went to a son-in-law's apartment nearby where she was untied and the gag was removed, she said.

Chains, binders taken from three trailers

Three tractor-trailer drivers reported the thefts of chains and binders from their trailers in Venice yesterday.

Clifton Branning, Meridian, Miss., reported seven chain binders taken from his truck at Market and Broadway at 2:05 p.m. yesterday and William Grafton, Union, Miss., said two had been taken from his truck at the same location about the same time.

At 10:45 p.m. yesterday, Don Dettie, Vernon, Tex., said nine chain binders were taken from his truck, parked at Market Street and Madison Avenue. He said he heard what he thought was the binders being thrown into the trunk of an auto and saw a car leave the scene at a high rate of speed.

Warriors, Trojans set for district tourney

The Granite City High School baseball Warriors will defend their district title in Edwardsville Monday when they play the host school. Last year they beat the tigers 1-0.

On Tuesday Madison's Trojans will play the Collinsville Hawks, and the championship game between the winners of the Monday and Tuesday games will play for the title.

There will be 112 district tournaments in the state administered by the Illinois High School Association. (IHSA) All pairings were made through a chance drawing and no attempt was made to seed the teams according to strength or size of school, according to the IHSA.

The winners of the local district tournament will play in the regionals, also at Edwardsville, May 21-23, with the winners advancing to the sectional competition May 29-31 hosted by Springfield Griffin.

The state finals will be played June 7-8 at Peoria. All tournaments will be conducted on a single elimination basis.

Cougars divide pair at Southwest Missouri

The Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville divided a baseball double header with Southwest Missouri State Tuesday at Springfield, Mo., dropping the first game 2-0 and winning a seven-inning nip 3-2.

A hit by second baseman Tom Twellman in the top of the seventh inning drove in the winning run for the Cougars in the second game.

Sam Stewart went all the way on the mound, giving up six hits, to earn the victory. He blanked the SMS Bears after they scored two runs in the first frame. Tim Summers worked behind the plate. The Cougars totaled seven hits in the contest, collecting single runs in the seventh and fourth frames. They also committed three errors.

Four errors by SUE in the first game did not help starting hurler Sam Hawkins who gave up single runs in the first and fifth innings. He was relieved by Larry Johnson in the seventh. Roger Belshe caught. The Bears outbatted the Cougars 8 to 4 in the game.

The Cougars, now 193 for the season, will play four games this weekend, double headers with Western Illinois University Friday and Saturday at Macomb.

They will close their regular season the following Friday and Saturday with three home games against Austin Peay University.

ROGER BELSHE OF GRANITE CITY, senior catcher on the baseball team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, exudes power in his swing as he helps the local Cougars in their best season yet. He also swings with a guitar.

Belshe great behind the plate, at bat, with guitar

Roger Allan Belshe, senior catcher on the surging Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team, has been playing the game since the second grade at Granite City's Logan School.

At age 10, the red-haired Belshe teamed up with another SUE baseball great, right-handed hurler, Don (Ducky) Rains, also of Granite City. Rains, who graduated last June, is now teaching in his hometown. They were a great battery and one of the Cougars' all-time winningest.

Another right-handed pitcher, also of Granite City, and now with the Cardinals' Triple A Arkansas farm club, Bruce Thompson, was frequently caught by Belshe, but not until both were enrolled at SUE.

Belshe has caught two no-hit games, the last coming in the Midwest NCAA regional tournament at Jackson, Tenn., in 1972, when he was behind the plate as Ron Middleton, of Obolton turned back Nichols State University of Louisiana, 17-0.

The first was in his senior year in high school, Granite City was tied in a scoreless duel with Assumption High in a seven-inning game. Jeff Boyles, a junior, was pitching to Belshe. In the sixth, Belshe homered for what proved to be the game's only run.

In the final frame, as Boyles had a perfect game going, Roger spoiled it by throwing into the dust at first base for an error.

"Believe me, it hurts a catcher just as much as the pitcher when something like that happens," says Belshe. "The public has no idea how much a catcher agonizes over every throw his pitcher makes, particularly when a no-hitter is at stake."

"As the game progresses the strain grows in the dug-out and nobody, but nobody, dares to even mention what is going on," he says.

In any game, the catcher makes practically every decision on what the hurler will throw. "Rarely, I think just twice, in Middleton's no-hitter did he shake me off," Belshe said, not bragging, but simply as a statement of fact.

Belshe's first game for SUE has already become a Cougar legend. As a freshman he made the team and went with the Cougars on their spring trip to the southland.

In SUE's second game at New Orleans, Belshe got his first starting chance. The Cougars were playing their second game against the Green Wave of Tulane University.

All Belshe did was blast out back-to-back home runs his first two trips to the plate to lead the Cougars to an 11-1 victory over Tulane.

If Belshe did not playing at all for the Cougars his talent as guitar player would make him invaluable. He had played the trombone for five years. But when the Beatles were most popular, he decided he liked what he heard and adopted the guitar.

Venice win at Worden ends card

The Venice High School Baseball Red Devils ended their limited season with a 12-5 victory at Worden Wednesday.

The team could muster only nine players to make the trip and despite lack of a senior in the lineup the scoring by innings for Venice went 2-5-3-0-1-1 and for Worden 1-0-0-1-0-1.

Everyone on the Venice nine got on base and everyone stole at least one base. Reggie Gardner was the winning pitcher.

Leading the ball for the Red Devils were Jeff Corrie, three-for-five with two RBIs; and Mike Logan, two-for-four with two RBIs. Other Devils hitting were Fred Bradley, Ronald Taylor and Gardner.

The VHS game with Valmeyer set for today has been rained out. Venice ended the season at 1-5.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MISS FAY BAIZE

Miss Fay Baize, who will become the bride of Randy Suchich in June, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower, given by Mrs. Liz Suchich.

The Polish Hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion. Streamers of pink and white were used among wedding bells.

Games were played and prizes were awarded after the honoree opened her many gifts. Refreshments were served to 90 friends and relatives of the young couple.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baize of Granite City. The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Suchich of Madison.

VISITORS FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pitchford, Fort Myers, Fla., former residents of Mitchell, have been vacationing with friends and relatives in this area. They spent time with Mrs. Mamie Matysiak, Mrs. Cecelia Spinks and Richard Scott, all of Madison. Mrs. Pitchford is a sister of the three.

HONOR ROBERT PEARCES ON 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pearce observed their 25th wedding anniversary this week at a surprise party given by members of the family at the Polish Hall.

The Pearces reside at 1710 Edwardsville Road and have a daughter, Roberta (Bobbie), and a son, Billy.

They were united in marriage May 10, 1948, in Sonora, Tex. The Rev. Fredrick Doren, O.F.M., officiated at the ceremony at St. Ann's Catholic Church.

The hall was decorated in silver bells and pink and white streamers. A large white decorated cake adorned the buffet table.

Nancy Bergman and Teresa Brunce presided over the guest book. About 150 attended. Gifts of silver and other items were presented to the couple. The buffet was served prior to dancing.

CLUB PLANS FISH FRY

The Madison Ladies Democratic Club met Monday evening with the president, Mrs. Ann Gavilsky, presiding.

Mrs. Gisela Gott offered prayer prior to the pledge to the flag being given in unison.

Main topic for discussion was the annual fish fry set for August. It was announced that officers of the club will act as chairmen of the fish fry, and committees will be appointed.

The club will continue to have meetings through the summer months.

The remainder of the evening was spent with games and refreshments. The hostesses were Mrs. Josephine Kozewich, Mrs. Vera Sikora and Mrs. LaVerne Harris.

CABOOSE HITS AUTO

An Illinois Terminal Railroad caboose, being pushed back, struck an auto driven by Donald C. Whitehead, 2721 W. 22nd St., at 11:58 p.m. Monday at the 19th Street and Rock Road rail crossing. Whitehead was charged with driving while intoxicated.

AUTO BREAKS POLE

An auto driven by Luster C. Flannery, 1709 Cleveland Blvd., struck and broke a wood power pole on Niedringhaus Avenue near the entrance of the American Steel Foundries parking lot at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday. Flannery was charged with driving while intoxicated.

SEWER BREAK

$250,000 and the figure eventually could reach $300,000," the street superintendent said.

"It will depend entirely upon how many of these breaks eventually turn up."

The Granite City Council has discussed plans to let contracts on a cost plus basis for repair of the broken lines when the water table recedes enough to permit work on the lines.

Portell, however, has told the council that in his opinion the only efficient way to solve the problem is to install new sewer lines at a level higher than those in which the breaks are occurring.

The Nameoki area lines are at a depth of about 13 feet, Portell said. Workers hit the water table at seven or eight feet, he added.

The council has not taken definite action, but has agreed it will be impractical to keep all street department workers as signed to work on the sewers.

STEAL RECORD PLAYER

A portable record player was stolen from the home of Tommie Mae Shelton, 201 Weaver St., Venice, she reported Monday.

Madison studying plan for sale of old bridge

Madison city officials are considering a request by a Chesterfield, Mo., realty firm for a six-month option to try and sell the old Chain of Rocks Bridge which is owned by Madison.

Thomas Realtors, a nationwide realty chain, informed the City Council by letter of its plan to advertise for sale of the bridge and city-owned land on which it is constructed.

The letter, which was read at the council's meeting Tuesday night, asked for a six-month option during which the real estate firm would prepare drawing and photographs for a sale brochure.

Mayor Mike Saszyk referred the issue to a study committee, saying that operators of the Mal Landfill still are considering purchasing or leasing the bridge for its operations. He said that if Mal is not interested in taking immediate action, he felt the bridge should be listed for sale by the realtors.

The council requested that the State Highway Department "check the soundness of the bridge" before it is offered for sale.

The council agreed to transfer it's employee health insurance from the Blue Cross group plan to the Golden Rule plan as a saving of about $8,500 per year. The transfer was made contingent upon approval by the mayor and insurance committee following further study.

Re-elected Third Ward Alderman Raymond Kozielek was sworn in during the meeting. All other aldermen re-elected in April balloting were sworn in at the previous meeting but Kozielek was absent.

Alderman Richard Kismar, head of the insurance committee, requested that the city controller check with Chester McManaway, a Madison insurance dealer, on the cost of deducible insurance coverage for the city's police cars.

The city formerly paid for damages to the cars, but several accidents have occurred in the past year. Both $100 and $200 deductible policies will be examined, the council agreed.

The aldermen agreed to continue the distribution of vehicle license stickers free of charge to residents through May 31, but placed a $5 fee on licenses beginning June 1. The move was described as action to force residents to get their licenses this month.

The date of the next council meeting was changed from Tuesday, May 22, to Monday, May 21, because of a conflict of schedule. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. in the Madison City Hall.

The aldermen declined to authorize an appeal in a court case involving the purchase of land by Andrew Gitchoff for the city's industrial park in 1970.

City attorney said the case had changed to a suit by Gerald Moss of Ill-Fac Coast Transportation Co., Inc., against Gitchoff, and the city was no longer involved. Moss had asked that the city authorize $2,500 for the appeal.

Lester Firtos, comptroller, was authorized to reinvest $4,103 in federal revenue sharing funds into 4% interest 60-day time savings certificates in the First National Bank in Madison.

Firtos also was empowered to transfer $3,500 from the general fund to the playground and recreation fund to meet obligations there.

The Newport Homecoming Association was given permission to seek advertising in the city for its third annual homecoming yearbook. The homecoming will be Sept. 1 through 4 in Madison and Venice.

Permission also was granted

Bill unpaid for six years ok'd by city

A bill for sidewalk construction that has been unpaid since September 1966 was authorized for payment by the City Council Monday night.

The bill, in the amount of $1,374, was submitted by Tom Skerles of Granite City, cement contractor, for installation of sidewalks at St. Margaret Mary School.

Council members noted that the bill had been approved for payment by the council several times during the past six years, but that former Mayor Donald Partney refused to sign the check.

Alderman Walter Nomm said that the former mayor contended that the city had no contract for the work, but Alderman Gerald Parnley said the work was authorized by a council vote and "I don't know what better contract you can have."

Schuler creates two new city attorney posts

Mayor Paul Schuler created two new attorney posts within the city government Monday night and appointed two Granite City attorneys to fill the positions.

Mayor Schuler also announced the appointment of Eric Robertson as assistant city attorney, but did not name a new city attorney in Monday night's meeting.

Named to the new posts were Casper Nighoshian who was appointed condemnation attorney, and James Thebeau who was appointed as board attorney.

Thebeau was assistant city attorney until the change in administration early this month.

Mayor Schuler explained that the condemnation attorney will be assigned the task of handling condemnation proceedings which primarily will involve a program to demolish deteriorated properties.

The board attorney, he said, will serve as attorney for the various boards and commissions such as the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners and the Air Pollution Control Board.

Both new attorney positions will be conducted on a fee basis with the attorneys paid only for services performed. The city attorney and assistant city attorney are salaried.

The attorney appointments were among eight appointments announced by the mayor during a regular City Council session, including reappointment of Victor Koenig as Civil Defense director, and Harold Mayfield as assistant Civil Defense director.

Mayor Schuler also appointed Mary Havron as secretary in the Civil Defense office, filling a post that has been vacant.

The mayor named James Kelahan as deputy liquor commissioner, and appointed Thomas Wofford as humane officer.

Kelahan replaces Howard Stopkotte who served in the deputy post under former Mayor Donald Partney, and Wofford replaces Fred Schmidt.

Funds allotted for student interns in government

The state Department of Local Government Affairs has awarded $41,250 to 38 local governmental bodies as part of the Student Intern in Local Government Program, Department Director Frank Kirk announced Tuesday.

The money will be utilized to hire students who will spend a summer working for a local government.

Kirk said, "The goal of the program is to aid local officials with their continuing endeavor to recruit good people to careers in local government." He continued:

"The program allows local officials of municipal, county and village governments to offer opportunities to Illinois students to experience firsthand the work of local governments. It also provides temporary manpower to local officials for projects and activities that need to be done."

Students will work in a variety of activities ranging from developing informational programs for city managers to establishing community-police relations programs. Participants in the program include the city of Madison.

Salvation Army Week

Salvation Army week opens in area Monday

Mayor Paul Schuler has proclaimed Monday through May 20 as Salvation Army Week in Granite City, and said, "The Salvation Army's steady efforts to renew and recreate families in Granite City can only merit favorable recognition today, when our traditional sense of family is threatened on all sides."

"The Salvation Army," he continued, "offers its programs and services to meet human needs both material and spiritual. There are no prerequisites—no atheist has ever been turned away unclothed or hungry."

"In fact, by their policy of openhandedness, the Salvationists have made every man in the street a stockholder in their work."

"On behalf of my fellow citizens, I salute the steadfast, skilled personnel of The Salvation Army which is a great and joyful force for the wellbeing of our community and congratulate them on fifty years of service in the QuadCity area from 1923 to 1973!"

100 women attend St. Elizabeth Communion Mass, breakfast

More than 100 women attended a Communion Mass and breakfast at St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church this week. Misses Karen DeRousse, Susan Ponce, Debbie Martin and Christine Byer, dressed in white with white veils, led the procession of ladies to their seats.

The Rev. Nino Viviano read the eight o'clock Mass and spoke on the women's role in the home.

The choir sang several selections after which a solo "Ave Maria" was sung by Angie Brown. Mrs. Shirley Heath welcomed members and guests at the breakfast held in the cafeteria of the church.

The Rev. John Savoree gave the invocation. Tables were decorated with spring flowers. Breakfast was served by members of the Holy Name Society of St. Elizabeth's with Frank Pare as chairman.

Mrs. Heath made the Science Lab Project presentation to Sister Lucia, principal of St. Elizabeth's School. Sister Lucia thanked those who helped in the recent fund-raising project enabling her to establish a science department for the school in the fall. Mrs. Millie Klesch and Mrs. Beulah Gauen were co-chairmen of the project. Sister Lucia received a gold plaque which will be placed on the Science Lab door.

Attendance prizes were awarded and Mrs. Heath thanked the girls for their participation in the program. She also read an original poem entitled "Thoughts For Mother's Day."

Father Lawrence Mattingly spoke briefly and thanked all for their prayers during his recent illness. The Rev. Viviano, who has been assisting at St. Elizabeth's during the illness of Father Mattingly, thanked the ladies for work done, and closed with the prayer "The Memory."

Members of the Altar Society assisting with the event included Mrs. Heath, president, Mrs. Nancy Rosales, vice-president, Mrs. Sue Kurilla, treasurer and Mrs. Rosalia Johannmeier, secretary.

Former residents feted at dinner

The Harmony Sunday School Class of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church held a meeting during the weekend at Temple's Snorgasbord, honoring special guests Mr. and Mrs. Russell West, former members now residing in New Mexico.

Mrs. Ruby Corbett gave the invocation. A short business meeting was held after the dinner hour.

Mrs. Fred Sticht presented a devotional lesson entitled "What About Those Problems?"

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reimers, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin, Mr. and Mrs. John Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sticht, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Compton, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Frohardt, Mrs. Pauline Cox, Mrs. Ruth Purkey, Mrs. Ruby Hartline, Mrs. Ruby Corbett, Mrs. Iva Blaylock.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cruise, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mercer, the Rev. and Mrs. Roy Baugh and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ormish of Hillsboro, Mo.

Plans were announced for a social meeting to be held May 17 at the VFW.

Twenty-three members attended the meeting held at the VFW hall. The mystery package went to Mrs. Mary Foster. Mrs. Bonnie Minze won the special prize.

African Sleeping Sickness Cure Being Sought by SIUE Scientists

Three scientists at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are trying to discover a cure for African sleeping sickness by studying parasites in blood. The three are Donal Myer, professor of biological sciences; Arthur Zahalsky, chairman of the biological sciences department; and Mrs. Zahalsky, a research associate. They are working with trypanosomes—organisms with whip-like structures used for locomotion. The trypanosomes are parasites which cause diseases in man and domestic animals and live for the most part in the blood stream, Myer explained.

There are two well-known human trypanosomes, according to Myer, Trypanosoma Gambiense, which comes from Gambia and causes African sleeping sickness, and Trypanosoma Cruzi, which occurs in Latin America and causes Chagas disease or American Trypanosomiasis. Chagas disease is marked by prolonged fever and enlargement of many organs of the body.

The SIUE biologists are focusing their research in three areas: understanding the biology of the organisms in the blood stream, the action of drugs on these organisms in the blood stream and possibly in the test tube, and response of infected hosts to the presence of these organisms in terms of two parameters—humoral response and cellular response. Both are immune responses, according to Myer.

"Humoral responses involve substances called antibodies in the blood, substances which interact with the parasites and may cause the parasites to be killed," he explained.

"Cellular responses involve the development of sensitized cells, such as some white blood cells which react specifically with the parasite. The latter may lead to the eating of the parasites or cause them to break up."

"The two systems may be involved in resistance," Myer said. "We want to learn the contribution of both systems to immunity to these parasites so we can enhance the immunity."

"We are now working with Trypanosoma Bruci, infectious to various wild animals in Africa and domesticated cattle, which kill or make them poor meat and milk producers," Myer said. "Basic research on these organisms may help us understand Chagas disease and provide clues to effect a cure."

According to Myer, all trypanosomes have two hosts—one an insect and one a vertebrate, such as man. "In America the insect host is a kissing bug which bites around the lips," he explained. "In Africa, tsetse flies are hosts. We are not involved with the insect. In our laboratory, where we use mice and rats as vertebrate hosts, we carry the infection by syringe from one to the other."

The parasite multiplies at about the same rate in both hosts, Myer said. But when the drug berenil is given as a curative we find differences in the action. Mice are cured usually within 48 to 72 hours. In rats it takes only five or six hours. As yet, we can't explain the difference. Also, we don't know why the host is killed but we now have some interesting leads."

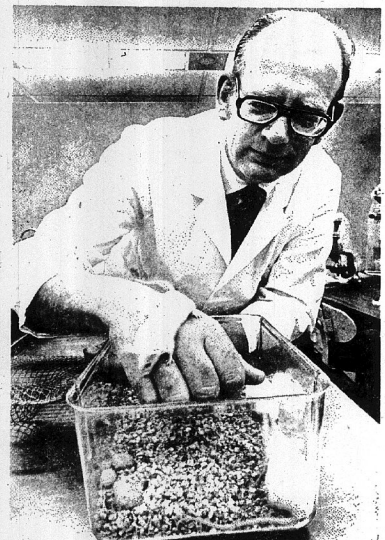

Zahalsky and his wife have been trying to find what causes parasites to be killed by berenil. They have found a number of natural activities within the parasite affected by the drug. Their most significant finding to date is the complete interruption of the duplication of DNA, a substance which directs activities of the cell.

"DNA, at the time of the cell division, is duplicated and each daughter cell receives identical DNA from the original cell," Myer explained. "This DNA not only determines the characteristics of the organisms, it also directs the thousands of activities that take place in a cell. Berenil is a good drug because it stops vital activities in the trypanosome but not in the host cells."

"In addition to its effect on DNA, we hope to find out which enzyme systems are affected by berenil," Myer said, "so we will know more about how the parasite can be controlled. We also want to know how the immune response of the host can be stimulated."

Sailing on Tower Lake is a popular spring and summer recreational activity on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Last year, more than 40,000 persons used the facilities of the 80-acre lake. The lake is open for recreational uses from mid-May until Labor Day. (SIUE PHOTO)

Computer Assisted Instruction Lab at SIUE during Summer Term

A mobile computer assisted instruction laboratory from Penn State University will be located on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville from July 23 to Aug. 31 to offer courses through the Special Education Department of the SIUE Education Division.

William R. Whiteside, chairman of the SIUE department, announced that the course to be offered is CARE (Computer Assisted Remedial Education) I: Introduction to Education of Exceptional Children.

The laboratory is located in a custom-built, air-conditioned, 40-foot-long van which can be expanded to provide a comfortable learning environment which is 17 feet wide. Sixteen student stations are available in the laboratory, and one to three-hour sessions may be scheduled at the computer terminals on an individualized basis.

Whiteside said the CARE courses have undergone rigorous and extensive evaluation. According to the information furnished by Penn State, CAI (computer-assisted instruction) students complete the courses in about one-third less time and with approximately 25 per cent higher average achievement scores than conventionally instructed students.

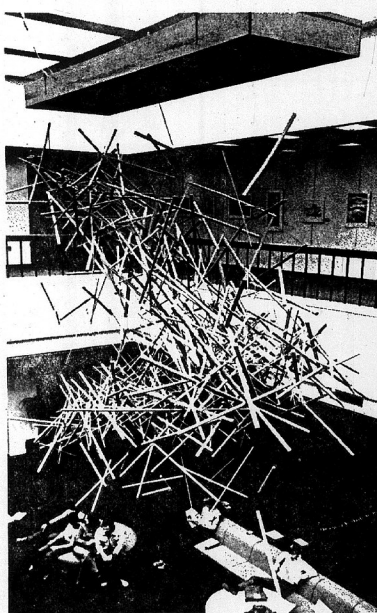

The computer-assisted instruction course is planned especially to prepare in-service teachers of elementary and pre-school children to identify and deal effectively with conditions in children which may adversely affect their school performance.

According to Whiteside, specialists in early childhood education and special education, in particular, emphasize the need for early diagnosis of educational or behavioral problems. It is their contention that the early years of a child's life are extremely important in terms of personality development and intellectual growth. They also emphasize that early recognition of the problems, followed by programs designed to promote identification and social awareness, is an effective means of minimizing the development of handicapping and disabling tendencies.

Complete information concerning schedules for the CARE courses may be obtained from the SIUE Special Education Department.

THE UNIQUE DESIGN of the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University is indicated in this aerial view, looking west toward the Mississippi River valley. Located on 2,600 acres of rolling land along the bluffs above the valley, the campus was planned with overall unity in mind. Its strong basic design serves as the basis for unlimited growth and flexibility. Opened in 1965, the campus has grown from two buildings and a student enrollment of 4,000 to six buildings in the academic core area and more than 11,000 students. Ground was broken on March 29 for two new classroom buildings. The University's multiple parking lots have a capacity of nearly 6,000 vehicles. (SIUE Photo)

Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has more than 510,000 volumes, over 230,000 government documents, a collection of 10,000 recordings, and approximately 81,000 maps. Lee Mayer of Edwardsville says she can study better with bare feet.

Big book . . . little book—Cathy Menemeyer of Bethalto, an English major at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, examines one of the largest and one of the smallest books in Lovejoy Library on the SIUE campus. The large book, "History of Northamptonshire Families," was published in 1906 and weighs more than 10 pounds. It is 24 inches high, 14 inches wide and 4 inches thick. The small book is a rare collection of "Hymns for the Use of the Methodist Episcopal Church," published in 1831 in New York. A recent acquisition of the library, it measures three inches high, two inches wide and one inch thick, and it weighs only two ounces. (SIUE PHOTO)

Transcendental meditation lecture at Y here Friday

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Whether transcendental meditation is a new kind of "yaf," a "religious euphoria," a "drugless high" or a new kind of magical miracle is a question which is being asked more and more often throughout the country.

The number of persons capable of answering the question has tripled each year as more and more students and adults turn toward TM as a means of improving their lives.

Chuck Blitz, an authorized and trained transcendental meditation teacher, will present an introductory lecture on the topic at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the local YMCA. A second lecture will be given the following Friday evening. Both are free to the public.

Blitz became interested in TM two and a half years ago at a TM lecture at Washington University, St. Louis. He had a friend "who meditated" and so took a course offered by the Students International Meditation Society, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization "devoted to TM and the science of creative intelligence."

In 1971 he went to Humboldt State College in California for one month to study under Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, who is credited with giving the movement its present impetus. Blitz spent one month with Maharishi there and then followed him to Majorca, Spain, for three and a half months.

He then returned here, but in 1972 went to California to be with Maharishi two more months. He was certified as a TM teacher by Maharishi 16 months ago and since then has taught about 200 persons in the St. Louis area.

"There are so many wrong impressions about TM. Some people think it is done with your left foot behind your right ear. TM is done sitting in a chair in a relaxed position," Blitz explained.

"Some think it is tied in with Hindu music and religious rites; others think it is a kind of hypnotism," he added.

"TM is simply a way of freeing the mind to turn in an inward direction. The experience transcends that, and you come back a little more alert — a little more lively," he explained.

"While meditating, you are alert and aware of what is going on around you," he said, denying that any form of hypnotism is involved.

He described meditation as "restful alertness," calling it "the fourth state of consciousness." The three common states of consciousness are awake, asleep and dreaming.

"Scientists have proven that with deprivation of any of these three states, we just don't feel well," he said. The fourth state allows meditators to relieve frustrations and tension from their minds.

"We have learned that deeper stresses and strains are a part of our lives. We don't have to accept that. Now we can get rid of them too," he commented.

"When we can clear our minds of these deep stresses, and then new stresses come, they do not have as much impact," he added.

The key to TM, Blitz explained, is the combination of learning the correct methods and of utilizing a "seed thought" which turns the mind inward.

There are many seed words which are effective, but there are different specific words for different people, he said.

"We know that specific sounds or vibrations have a tendency to turn the mind inward. See thoughts or words are sounds which have a very strong effect in this direction," Blitz said.

He declined to identify any of the words.

"Good teaching, not the seed thoughts, are the key to TM," he said, adding it is an "easy technique, but it's delicate. It's soft."

Experienced meditators still return to SIMS centers periodically to be "checked," he said. The check involves meditating with an instructor who can identify problems in the TM procedure and can help correct them, he explained.

Asked what difference TM has made in his life, Blitz responded, "My favorite state used to be sleep. My ability now to enjoy life is just tremendous."

He said that when the mind is alert and awake, "colors are brighter and everything is clearer."

He described most working men as "men who go home after work too tired to enjoy the evening. They sit down and relax and miss everything."

"I've been meditating two years now and I cannot imagine an evening that does not start with meditation. Most men and women miss the whole joy of the evening."

"With meditation I can be awake and alert and want to do things," he said, adding that his parents and five other children in his family all meditate and a far more cordial atmosphere exists.

"I have also stopped biting my fingernails and noticed immediately that my grades in college improved after I started TM," he said.

Asked if TM could be the answer to ending the drug crisis the country faces, Blitz responded that TM satisfies the needs many youngsters are turning to drugs to find.

"Drugs do not remove stresses. They simply add more," he said. "Kids take drugs to change the day but soon things are the same again. With TM the day becomes brighter, more colorful and much better," he explained.

He displayed a House of Representatives resolution passed by the state legislature in 1972 which called TM "a simple natural technique of gaining deep rest and relaxation which is easily learned by everyone" and which authorized state agencies to study TM as a possible alternative to drug abuse and as a method of lessening student unrest and improving grades and student-parent and teacher relationships.

Blitz also displayed results of scientific studies showing physical and psychological effects. Charts showed TM reduced physical oxygen consumption and breathing rates below levels of sleep.

Also documented was the state of relaxation TM produced as measured by skin resistance. Cardiac and biochemical changes as well as brain wave pattern changes all showed relaxation of the mind and body during TM.

Results of other studies showed faster reaction times, increased perceptual ability, superior motor nerve performance and increased learning ability after meditation.

The studies were verified by the Scientific American Journal, he said.

Accompanying Blitz here this week was Wayne Gum, 2622 Iowa St., a meditator.

Gum said he learned TM one year ago "and people have noticed a difference in me. There is a sense of security wave pattern changes all showed relaxation of the mind and body during TM."

Gum said he worked last year in the Regional Health Services Office of Arkansas in Little Rock where 18 of the 20 office personnel meditated.

Everyone seemed to become effective as people and more involved in their tasks. The quality of interaction was enhanced," he explained.

Gum said in 1965 only about 100 persons in this country meditated. Last year about 100,000 meditators were known and this year about 300,000 are involved in TM programs.

"The number seems to triple every year and we've just scratched the surface," he said.

He added that TM is being taught in every free country of the world and is being introduced in some Communist countries. Maharishi Mahesh Yogi has described TM as a method to achieve "the age of world peace."

Blitz's efforts are among efforts being made across the country to establish the TM center for every town. The plan, an idea called The World Plan.

Blitz will also speak Wednesday, May 16, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

No-hitter by McLaughlin fades as Trojans lose

Ron McLaughlin, Madison High School hurler, had a no-hitter going into the sixth inning in a game at Highland St. Paul Wednesday but became a 3-2 loser as St. Paul scored twice in the bottom of the seventh frame.

At that McLaughlin gave up only two hits, but in their last chance St. Paul's Vikings managed to fill the bases with none out and scored on a walk and a sacrifice fly to overcome a 2-1 MHS-Trojans lead. The Trojans collected six hits with Jerry Verba getting two singles, and scored their first run in the first inning as Carl Turner doubled and McLaughlin drove him home. Jon Henke scored in the fourth on a hit by Robert Wilson.

Madison, now 5-13, was weathered out at Litchfield today. The Trojans will face Collinsville at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Edwardsville district tournament.

Hours extended at state flood relief centers

A change of hours at the nine assistance centers for flood victims was announced Tuesday by Bob Ritz, Illinois Civil Defense disaster coordinating officer.

New hours at the centers will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, beginning today.

As of this week, 1,657 families totaling 5,805 persons had registered at the nine assistance centers.

Terry Vangen is deputy federal coordinating officer for the Office of Emergency Preparedness. The state Civil Defense Agency manages the centers for the OEP.

The nine centers are in Rockford, Woodstock, Rock Falls, Moline, Havana, Quincy, Jerseyville, East St. Louis and Olive Branch. Further assistance in regard to the locations of the centers and any flood information may be obtained by calling OEP's toll-free flood assistance number: 800-252-8928.

The flood line is answered from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week by ACTION volunteers and is located in the Illinois Civil Defense Emergency Operating Center in Springfield.

Ritz said several persons have called the flood line asking where donations of money can be sent. He commented: "The state cannot accept donations of money for the disaster victims. However, many organizations have provided help during the fight against the flood waters, and I am sure they can use the money to help the flood victims."

The American Red Cross has reported that its disaster relief funds are depleted. Since March 17, Ritz said, an unprecedented series of 81 floods, tornadoes, explosions and other unusual disasters have affected hundreds of thousands of persons in 11 states and the Red Cross has sheltered more than 10,000 persons and fed 32,000 victims and volunteer workers.

Of this number, 265 persons have been sheltered in Illinois during the flood and over 3,000 flood victims and volunteer workers have been fed by the Red Cross. The total spent by the organization in Illinois in the last few weeks was $10,120, he said.

"The Salvation Army and many other such agencies on the state and local levels have helped in this spring's disaster—which is still not over," Ritz said.

"We still have areas where levees are beginning to weaken because of the pressure of the water over such a long period of time. Our people are watching the levees closely and each weak area or crack is sandbagged immediately."

"Without the help of thousands of volunteers, the disaster would have been much worse."

Equal rights debate to be held at SIUE

"Resolved that the Equal Rights Amendment should be ratified" is the topic of a debate to be held at 3:30 p.m. Monday in the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The public is invited, admission free.

The audience-participation debate will be introduced by two students from Colorado State University, Pamela O'Shea and Cindy Smiley, taking the affirmative stand, and two SIUE debaters, Dan Wille, Wood River, and Jeff Burns, O'Fallon, the negative.

Dan Salden, a member of the speech and theater department at SIUE and sponsor of its Cougar Forensic Union, explained that the debate on Monday was part of an exchange program with other universities.

SIUE student debaters Robert Neff, Edwardsville, and Charles Mecum, Vandalla, will be at Colorado State May 16 to debate the issue that "free love is the most expensive kind."

Mother's Day to tax telephone facilities

One hundred forty completed telephone calls per minute are expected in the metropolitan area on Mother's Day.

"We anticipate about 200,000 long distance calls in this area on Sunday, with another 2,000-600 to be completed throughout Southwestern Bell's five-state area," Dale Kaeshoefer, unit manager of Granite City said.

"Next to Christmas, Mother's Day traditionally is the second highest holiday calling period of the year."

To handle the increased long distance load, 630 operators will be on duty Sunday in the phone company's metropolitan area. That is about 100 more than normal, Kaeshoefer said.

With a consistently heavy calling load throughout the day on Sunday, callers are being urged to phone on Saturday when possible.

"People who call on Saturday still will be able to take advantage of the same low week-end rates, and of course have a better chance of completing their calls more quickly," Kaeshoefer explained.

"Callers also can save both time and money by using 'One-Plus' calling and dialing the number themselves. Low rates will apply until 5 p.m. Sunday."

Gunman holds up State again planning new A&P Market here Dobrey drainage routes

An armed robber escaped with an undetermined amount of money but missed more at the A&P Market in the American Village shopping center at 8:35 p.m. Tuesday.

Store officials told police the man entered the store and asked if he could cash a check, and that the robber held a .38 caliber revolver in the window and said "Give me all the money."

The store manager told the gunman that all of the cash drawers but one were in the office, according to the report, and when the gunman ordered him to get the money from the other register and to open the safe, he was told that the safe could not be opened.

The band then left in a white-over-green auto carrying money in a green shopping bag.

He was described as being 25 to 28, about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, 150 pounds, with red hair, a possible tattoo on the right arm and wearing a green-and-white shirt with a button down collar.

WET ROAD-ACCIDENT

Autos driven by Pamela Israel, 3049 Washington Ave., and Leonard F. Scherff, Stoughton, were in an accident on wet pavement at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday at 20th Street and Madison Avenue.

Engineers of the Illinois Division of Waterways are devising three new alternate routes for construction of a drainage project for the Dobrey Slough area, but which of these may be used will depend upon the acquisition of easements, John Guillo, chief engineer of the waterways division, told the Press-Record yesterday.

New plans for a drainage line to provide interim relief for the Dobrey Slough area were begun after the latest proposal—the sixth advanced by the state since the waterways division agreed to step into the picture—ran into right-of-way problems, Guillo said.

The state proposes to build a drainage line from Dobrey Slough to Granite City's Amos Avenue sewer and thence into the Nameoki drainage canal at a cost estimated at $80,000, but it has encountered right-of-way problems that has prevented completion of any of the previously planned projects, according to Guillo.

The latest involved the refusal of a property owner to grant easements unless the state would lift building restrictions on 10 lots of property in the slough area, on which the property owner then would be permitted to build residential properties.

That route would have extended from the slough, south to Pontoon Road, westerly along the north Pontoon Road right-of-way to link with a manhole at the northeast corner of Stearns Avenue. The water then would be carried in the city-owned sewer under Pontoon Road and into the Amos Avenue sewer from which it would be pumped into the Nameoki canal.

"There is nothing we could do about lifting such restrictions because the property is located in the natural drainage basin," Guillo said. "Success of any drainage project depends upon retaining Dobrey Slough as a holding pond, since there are no pumps powerful enough to handle a heavy volume of rainfall as it occurs. Surface waters must drain into the slough and then be pumped from the holding basin."

Guillo said that the engineers are now working on "every available remaining alignment over which we could build a drainage line...we'll have to wait and see how we come out on easements when these plans are completed."

All of the new plans are complete departures from the plans prepared previously, the engineers added.

Originally, the waterways division planned to extend a line south from the slough and then under Pontoon Road, then westerly along the south side of Pontoon Road to the Amos Avenue sewer. This plan also was abandoned because of right-of-way difficulties, resulting in five other variations of that particular route.

Meanwhile, some residents of the Dobrey Slough area are threatening to file suit against the parties who have blocked the natural flow of the slough by construction, going as far back as 50 or 60 years.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, leader of a group of Dobrey Slough residents seeking relief from flooding, said the residents have consulted an attorney concerning such suits. Residents of the area also will petition Gov. Dan Weller asking that he file suit against anyone blocking the drainage plans, Mrs. Hawkins said.

He was elected to the Supreme Court in 1947 and served one year as chief justice before he was defeated for reelection in 1951. He then was appointed as a member of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Mr. Simpson formerly served as Madison County master in chancery and as an assistant state's attorney before he was elected as a Madison County judge in 1946.

THREATENED BY MOTHER

A Venice man, 22, told Venice police this week that his mother threatened him with a gun in Venice while he and his brother were arguing. Venice police investigated the matter but no charges were filed.

'America the Beautiful' to be Scout-o-rama theme

"America the Beautiful" is the theme to the 1973 Uniwah (Quad-Cities) District Scout-o-rama, which will be held at the Wilson Park ice rink between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. on May 19.

Forty-five local Scout units will display different aspects of the theme for the 1973 Uniwah program, Cubbing, Scouting and Exploring.

New changes in the Boy Scouts of America's program that came into effect within the last year will be highlighted in several booths.

Persons attending may view and even participate in some of the activities.

Local Scouts, Cubs and Explorers are selling tickets for $1 each. The money will help finance the programs of the individual Scout units, buy equipment for the boy selling the ticket and help with the general financing of the Ca-hola Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Units participating and their projects are Pack 23, Webster School PTA, a powder puff drill; Pack 7, St. Joseph's School, Indian dancing; Explorer Post 104, Madison Lions and Police, law enforcement; Troop 41, Mitchell, back packing; Troop 35, Odd Fellows, archery; Troop 13, Elizabeth Church, knots and pioneering; Troop 5, Nameoki Methodist Church, citizenship.

"I sincerely hope every person in the area will take a little time and visit the Scout-o-rama on May 19th as it will be a real great experience seeing the youth of our area in real constructive activities and the $1 goes to help insure that these activities will continue," Dave Brooks, general chairman of events, said.

"It's real easy to buy a ticket. Just ask any of the 1,200 Scouts in this area for one, or just stop at the rink and buy your ticket at the door," Brooks said. "I want to emphasize that we don't want people to buy a ticket and stay at home. We want everyone to buy a ticket and come to the Scout-o-rama."

Karen Richardson Future Secretary of the year

One of the highlights of the year for the members of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association was the joint dinner meeting held at Charlie's Restaurant with members of the Granite City High School Future Secretaries Association.

Miss Karen Richardson was named the winner of the Miss FSA title for 1973. A $50 scholarship award from the Tri-Cities Chapter accompanied the awarding of the title. Miss Richardson has been an active FSA member for three years and served as vice president of the group in her senior year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Richardson, Rural Route 20, Granite City.

For the first time this year a surprise award of $50 was presented to the junior FSA member who had accumulated the most points during the past year. The winner of that award was Miss Diane Daugherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daugherty, 3004 Myrtle Ave.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of a certificate of appreciation to Mrs. Mary Sedekum, AMSCO Plumbing, a former chapter member of the Tri-Cities Chapter and one of the past winners of the Boss of the Year title for the chapter. President Twila Edmonds announced that the members had voted to award the certificate to Mrs. Sedekum to show their appreciation for her participation and cooperation in chapter activities throughout the year. Mrs. Sedekum was one of those who participated in Secretaries Week by having an FSA member in her office for one day.

Members of the Tri-Cities Chapter paid a portion of the cost of the meal of each of the 21 FSA members present. The Business Teacher of the Year, selected by the FSA members at their meeting, last month, Norman Owca, and the monthly advisor, Mrs. Lucille Aramowicz, were special guests of the FSA members. Unable to attend was another faculty advisor, Mrs. Judi Sparks.

Discussion of plans for the forthcoming Illinois Division Meeting to be held in Rock Island and this month was the main item of business during the meeting. President of the Tri-Cities Chapter, Miss Twila Edmonds will be one of the candidates running for the office of Illinois Division treasurer. About 11 members will attend from the Tri-Cities Chapter.

Open House is scheduled for the evening of Friday, May 18, at which time the 300 members expected to attend the meeting of the Illinois Division will be allowed with booths allotted to the various members running for office. Voting will be held during the business meeting on Saturday afternoon.

A final meeting of the campaign committee, consisting of Sally Gracey, Lou Hemming, Peggy Moore, Marisa Kraus, Linda Fritchey, Mary Ann, Charlene Vunovic, Jane Davis, and Gerry Sharp, will be held at the home of Lou Hemming this evening at 7 p.m., at which time square dance skirts made from red and white checked material will be completed.

It was agreed that the money for campaign expenses, including flyers, pencils, and scratch pads, to be given out at Open House, would be advanced from the chapter's treasury and a special money-making project is scheduled for the June meeting to repay the treasury.

NSA members are to bring to that meeting items they have made themselves, and they will be auctioned. The board members will serve as hostesses for the June meeting, Jane Davis, MISS KAREN RICHARDSON, was named winner of the Miss Future Secretaries Association title for 1973 at a meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association at Charlie's Restaurant. She received a $50 scholarship award with the certificate.

Gerry Sharp, and Charlene Vunovic were the Service Committee for the May meeting and selected favors of ballpoint pens and daisies. Attendance prizes were won by Miss Aramowicz and Miss Joanne Kowalski.

Nameoki budget in slight rise; hearing May 26

A $104,006 town fund budget and a $32,483 general assistance budget have been prepared by the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors and will be given a public hearing and board action May 26.

The town fund budget is $3,645 higher than last year's budget and general assistance appropriations show a $2,500 increase over the 1972-73 budget of $89,985.

One of the largest increases in the new budget is for town hall expenses where $10,000 is appropriated for improvements. The money is to be used to begin expanding the town hall.

The town hall appropriation increased from $12,500 last year to $19,500 in the new budget.

Also showing an increase was the compensation for town officers where the budget rose from $33,216 to $35,216.

The town clerk's salary was raised from $4,000 to $5,000 and the auditors were changed from per diem pay of $2,250 last year to salaries for which $4,800 is appropriated in the new budget.

Because of bills from the April election, the new budget appropriates $7,825, a marked increase from the $200 last year when there was no election.

Town officers' expenses are increased from $7,375 last year to $9,800 in the 1973-74 budget, while a $12,750 appropriation last year for the tax collector's office was dropped from the new document.

Auditing expenses declined from $2,000 last year to $1,500 this year because of a newly-completed bookkeeping system.

Legal services remain at $3,000 and labor expenses are unchanged from last year at $4,000.

The appropriation for rabies control is increased from $3,000 last year to $4,000 this year because of plans to purchase a new truck, while the town inspector's budget is increased from $2,600 to $4,000.

The total for services increased from $14,600 to $16,500 in the new budget.

The provision for contingencies was increased from $4,000 in the 1972-73 year to $5,000 this year.

The township's share of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC) costs declined from $670 last year to $580 in the new fiscal year.

Engineering fees decreased from $15,000 to $8,900, primarily because of the costs of planning and engineering the four township sewer last fiscal year.

In the general assistance budget, the amount appropriated for home relief declined from $48,000 last year to $46,300 in the new budget, but the decrease was offset by an increase in administration appropriations which went from $13,865 last year to $18,265.

Hospitalization remained unchanged at $24,200, transient cases appropriations were the same at $3,000 and burial expense appropriations stayed at $700.

The board allotted $8,000 for the municipal retirement fund.

Louis Waisell, township supervisor, explained that the new budgets do not include expenditures of federal revenue sharing funds. He said after the board has determined how the funds are to be spent, they will be incorporated into the budget.

A special public hearing on the budget will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 26, at the Town Hall, followed by a Board meeting at 9:30 a.m.

The board meeting was moved ahead because of the Memorial Day holiday on Monday. Final approval of the budget is expected at that meeting.

Many join Walters in anti-counseling bill

House Bill 1822, to give "equal rights to the unborn citizens of Illinois," introduced in the Illinois House by Rep. Robert J. Walters (R, Alton) now has over 50 co-sponsors. He says the bill "takes the offense" to protect the unborn.

Anyone "aiding, assisting or counseling any person intending to get an abortion would be liable for criminal penalties," Walters said. He said he and his co-sponsors are planning to arrange for expert medical and legal witnesses to testify in committee on the bill.

The section making it a criminal act to assist or counsel in abortions is aimed at outlawing abortion referral services, Rep. Walters said.

But there is general State-

Stevenson, Dixon may benefit from Watergate

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service
Springfield—What effect will Watergate have on Illinois politics?

Probably assure the 1974 reelection of Democrats U. S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III and State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon. That's the feeling beneath the Capitol Dome.

Statehouse Republicans have been growing increasingly pessimistic about next year's election campaign and the Watergate eruption has deepened their despair.

Several weeks ago there was a brief flurry of optimism among the GOP that Stevenson might be uneasy with a strong opponent. This was nourished chiefly from the convictions of once popular Democrats, former Gov. Otto Kerner and onetime Sec. of State Edward J. Barrett.

But there is general State-house recognition that Stevenson had pretty well defused the Kerner matter as a 1974 campaign issue, even before the Watergate explosion.

Stevenson's public declaration that Kerner should resign his federal judgeship, although it irritated some Kerner Democrat loyalists, nevertheless struck a popular chord.

If there is one thing all contemporary politicians agree on it is that the voters are fed-up with corruption in government. Stevenson inherited from his illustrious father, Gov. Adlai Stevenson II, a high respect among Illinoisans for integrity.

Capitol cynics crack that this is about all he has and that as far as getting anything done in Washington is concerned he is a distant second to aggressive Republican Charles H. Percy.

Republican strategists, in fact, have hoped to make Stevenson's ineffectiveness in Washington the major issue next year. His recent flurry of publicity activity reflects Stevenson's early efforts to blunt that issue.

But with the Watergate issue now dominant and probably to be so all during the 1974 campaign, Illinois Republicans are resigned to the fact that voters won't be interested in much else.

There is once again some irritation among Illinois GOP leaders against Percy for speaking out so critically of the Nixon administration on Watergate. They feel this is unnecessarily strengthening Stevenson and discouraging any truly strong Republican from running against him.

Most GOP strategists feel that Percy is working overtime to disassociate himself from the Nixon administration as preparation for a major bid for the Republican nomination for President in 1976.

Meanwhile morale among Illinois Republicans has sunk to a level unmatched since 1964. The blunt fact is that most Statehouse Republicans are about ready to write off 1974 and begin concentrating on 1976 in the confident belief that Democrats will be bitterly divided by then.

Gov. Dan Walker and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley are feuding right now, but few Republicans think this will be much help against Stevenson next year. The Watergate flood has washed out that brief little glimmer of optimism.

80 take part here in benefit bike ride

Approximately 80 persons participated in the Bike-A-Thon sponsored by the Great River Riders Bicycle Club during the weekend to benefit the Diabetic Children's Welfare Association, according to Mrs. Nancy Marti, Granite City chairman.

Co-sponsor of the event was McDonald's Restaurant. The final tabulation of money received by the riders will be made on June 1 at which time the winners of new bicycles will be announced.

Mrs. Marti said two children from Edwardsville and five from Wood River were among those who took part in the ride. All proceeds from the project will be used to pay operating costs of the 1973 camp for diabetic children and aid in construction of a new camp near Hermann, Mo.

Mexican group plans fiesta, picnic, game

The Mexican Honorary Commission completed plans for its Cinco de Mayo Festival Saturday at the Venice-Madison American Legion at a meeting this week at the Jaycee home.

A report on the pet parade was presented by Steve Ortiz, who was its chairman. Terry Valencia was appointed chairman of the commission's annual picnic. A date for it is to be announced.

Bob Yount, manager of the commission's softball team, reported that it was selected to play at Busch Stadium in St. Louis on May 19. The team is undefeated.

A letter from aldermen Walter Nunn and Steve Bassarich regarding operation of the city playground at 1600 Olive St. was read. Ortiz is to be in charge of the grounds and diamonds.

Lunch was served to 58 members and games were played after the meeting.

3 Convenient Ways To Charge

Stations beginning to feel the pinch of the developing gasoline crisis; independent dealers will be hurt most

By RALPH MOSELEY
Copy News Service

WASHINGTON — Drivers pulling into service stations, especially the independents, are beginning to notice the absence of that age-old question by the attendant, "Fill her up, sir?"

Some stations are limiting either by gallon or dollar purchase, the amount of gasoline sold to any single driver.

Some major oil companies, getting ready for the expected pinch in supplies, are limiting allocations to their dealers.

Predictions of a gasoline shortage in New England, the Southwest and the Midwest are bringing a flood of protest on Capitol Hill.

The Chase Manhattan Bank, in its review of the petroleum situation, said the oncoming shortage could "tend to cripple the nation's transportation system."

The study said the shortage could be relieved if the refineries would increase the proportion of yield per barrel of crude above the presently projected 48 per cent.

This in turn could cause a shortage of fuel oil next winter.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., announced his subcommittee on Activities of Regulatory Agencies will resume hearings in Detroit on gasoline marketing practices.

Dingell will continue to focus on current marketing activities and their effects on the small businessman.

Conflicting stories from different sources come out daily. The American Automobile Association (AAA) said motorists need not worry about gasoline shortages later in the summer.

The association said, "Most company dealers will have fuel supplies somewhat larger than they received last year, although occasional pinches may occur."

They added that lessened reserves would mean there would be little gasoline at cut-rate prices "but even independent dealers should have supplies to offer at regular prices."

On the other hand, most independents sell at cut-rate prices as they don't have mechanics to bolster their services and their only source of income is from gas and oil.

Independent refineries can no longer get crude oil from the major refineries as they simply do not have the stockpiles.

And major refineries are stuck with large supplies of fuel oil — the winter was as harsh as expected. Also the Clean Air Act has forced many states and cities to convert from coal to oil to produce electricity.

Consumption of gasoline is up 7 to 8 per cent, and the newer automobiles using a lower compression ratio have larger cylinders.

Tom Powers on the subcommittee on Activities of Regulatory Agencies said in an interview that he understood many independent stations were already out of business with more to follow.

The Independent Oil Men's Association of New England predicts a shortage of 125,000 barrels of gasoline daily in the second and third quarter of this year, and calls for unlimited and tariff-free fuel oil and gasoline imports over the next two years.

And of course the price of gasoline, which for years has held pretty steady, is starting to accelerate.

The fifty cents a gallon and up is just around the corner. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) whose 11 members represent 85 per cent of the world's exported oil have asked for a 10 per cent increase in price to compensate for the dollar devaluation.

SUITLAND, Md. — Mike Gordon, an independent gas dealer, is a self-avowed optimist.

"If I wasn't I wouldn't be in this business," the young owner of 3 stations (2 in New Jersey, 1 in Maryland) said in an interview.

Gordon's station is literally surrounded by many majors. His nearest competition is an Amoco station with several islands and pumps, right next door.

other myself," the dark-haired young college graduate said.

Gordon is married with three children, holds a B.A. in accounting and has been acquainted with the gasoline business for 16 years.

"Like a few others, I've tied myself to a big independent for 90 per cent of my product and now they don't have it to deliver," he said.

"I had to raise the price of my gas 1 cent and lost 15 to 25 per cent of my business."

The young businessman seemed distressed over the situation of extremely short supplies.

"It's going to be dog-eat-dog the next few months and that's not the way humans should have to live," he said.

"Three months ago I would have been lucky to get ten cents on the gallon of anything I had in storage, if I went out of business. Today, I would get what I paid for the product."

Gordon agreed that many of the independents will be buying their product from other independents that have to go out of business.

"We have to jump around and get gas where we can," Gordon said.

Around the block, less than 6 blocks away is a Redhead station. They are one of the largest independent dealers around. Here in the Suitland section, they only have gas and oil, with a station that has 4 islands with 4 pumps per island.

"We haven't been cut back yet, and don't expect to be," said the attendant working at the station.

There's not much sympathy around for the independent, unless it's from his customers.

Darrel M. Kent, acting director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) had this to say about the independents:

"The people who dealt with contract purchases over a long period paid more, but they got security of supply. The person who did not pay for that security is finding the spot supply is not there."

Apparently neither is the contract purchaser.

Both Mobil and Texaco have already limited their supply to their dealers. Others are expected to follow.

Gordon pointed out that the independent refineries could order tanker loads, "but there is a shortage of tankers, plus the high price and storage problems."

The American Petroleum Institute has confirmed the shortage of tankers.

A Texaco officer, in a recent interview, said the price of gasoline is going to rise.

This is but another phase of the energy problems that the United States is going through.

If independents can no longer compete price-wise, they will fail by the wayside. This is only part of the story of how the oil shortage affects the average American, who generally thinks of oil in the form of gasoline.

It is reflected in the price of food that is transported by truck — diesel fuel is up 20 to 30 per cent in the last two years.

It is reflected in the price of electricity — which will have to rise in many sections of the country if the companies are to stay in business.

Watergate hurts national confidence, shows vital press role; raises issue of why so many failed to see and follow moral path

Having been on the receiving end of attempted intimidation by government officials at several times during the past three decades, we can say without hesitation that our hearts go out to the courageous newsmen who withstood high-level pressure and persisted in uncovering the vast scope of the Watergate political subversion.

We also are aware that some news media on occasion can come close to ineffectiveness, and thus we can sympathize to a considerable degree with officials.

Certainly, Senator Proxmire is right in urging the press and the public to be cautious about leaping to conclusions regarding President Nixon on the basis of "disputed, unproven, secret charges." Many of the allegations apparently are being "leaked" by two or three former officials who are casting about desperately to avoid possible prison terms.

Nevertheless, the Watergate case is assuming such appalling proportions already that the long, nationally televised Senate hearings opening May 17 may send Americans into an unprecedented state of disillusionment bordering on despair for our entire governmental process.

While in a sense "the system has worked" and revelations are now being made, suppression of information and evidence came perilously close to succeeding.

Even now, there is some doubt that the whole truth will be brought out. And, if all is revealed, will there be such damage to our nation's self-image that it will be next to impossible for the federal government to cope with the myriad foreign and domestic problems facing it?

What hurts worst of all is the growing awareness that so many people, regardless of their impressive titles and their veneer of decency, lacked the ability or inclination to separate right from wrong and act accordingly.

In the shell of civilization, the armor of character, the thin that it is, crumple under the temptation of gaining temporary advantage?

Prayer breakfast spotlights the good that can be achieved if all take pride in community and work to make it better

The prayer breakfast held here May 2 gives genuine hope that much can be accomplished through cooperative, coordinated action to achieve higher prosperity, plus improvement in the quality and satisfaction of life in the Quad-Cities.

Such attainments are far from automatic, but they are within reach if there is sincere, unselfish, dedicated effort. The gathering of more than 40 included a wide cross-section of those who live, work, shop and transact business here.

It perhaps should be noted that there have been similarly worthy past programs which fell by the wayside because some of the participants either lost interest or lost confidence in the eventual success of the ventures. This is not said negatively, but to help make the point that "nearly any reasonable plan, if well-executed, can prevail."

If there is a stick-to-it attitude, coupled with the kind of generous community pride that was called for by several of those at the initial meeting, the progress of June 6 and subsequent gatherings can have a solid, wholesome much-needed impact.

Many hope Illinois will join in reinstating death penalty

The Quad-Cities are blessed by a much lower prevalence of crime than many, perhaps most, communities in this region.

Despite this fact, no one is immune to violence and crime, and we can hope here that Illinois will act to restore the death penalty to obtain what ever deterrent it may offer.

It is essential that society not weaken the enforcement of laws and the punishment of wrongdoers that the strong feel free to frighten and run roughshod over the weak.

In this connection, it is worthy of note that Connecticut and Nevada on May 4 restored capital punishment for the murder of on-duty policemen or fremen, murder for pay and murder committed by those serving life sentences.

Connecticut also specified slayings by a convicted murderer; a non-capital offense; a sale of controlled substances; and murder of a hostage. The new Nevada law also calls for the death penalty in bombings, kidnappings and multiple "scheme murders."

Other states trying to restore the death penalty after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled it had been misapplied are Florida, Montana, Nebraska, Georgia, Arkansas, Wyoming, Ohio, Indiana, Utah and Tennessee. Fifteen additional states are considering the issue.

Women are paid less — why?

By CARL W. RITTER
Copy News Service

In 1971, male median income was $9,531 for year-round, full-time workers. For the like category of female in that year — the most recent for which figures are available — the median income was $7,701.

A report released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, Mo., brings this information to light along with conclusions drawn from looking into possible reasons for the differential.

Bank researchers concluded that no more than one-quarter of the 40 per cent differential in pay could be related to sex discrimination. They suggest in the report that customers rather than employers make up the primary group of discriminators. Also rated a "significant" discriminatory force are fellow employees.

Noting that large differentials are present in many sales and service occupations, the researchers say "customers apparently prefer waiters to waitresses in expensive restaurants and male to female auto mechanics, to mention two common examples." They go on to say that "the fact that women are paid less than men in managerial and foreman occupations might reflect the reluctance of fellow employees to accept female supervision."

The apparent exclusion of females from many labor unions is viewed as "prima facie" evidence of discrimination by potential co-workers.

Women's earnings, whether measured by annual income or average hourly pay, have averaged only about 80 per cent of men's earnings during the last quarter of a century.

What is more surprising is the fact that, despite the passage of the Equal Pay Act of 1963 and reinforcing legislation in the Civil Rights Act of 1964, there is no indication that the sex differential in employees' income was reduced during the decade of the sixties.

In fact, the ratio of female median income to male median income was slightly higher, at 60.6 per cent, in 1960 than it was in 1957. Bureau of the Census figures for 1971 show that in that year 4 per cent of males earned $5,000 and over compared with just 0.3 per cent of females.

In the income brackets of $7,000 to $9,999, the percentage favoring the males was 27.5 vs. 21.8; in the $10,000 to $14,999 class the respective percentages were 29.9 and 21.8; and in the $15,000 to $24,999 the men led with a percentage of 13.1 against 1.4. Commenting on the fact that female workers are particularly poorly represented in the higher income classes, bank researchers Mary

Baggage: Lost & Found

By Virginia Knauer

You arrive in a strange town after a long plane, train or bus trip, and you discover—as I have several times—that your luggage is missing.

What can you do? According to the Civil Aeronautics Board, which regulates airlines, and the Interstate Commerce Commission, which governs railroads and buses, the first thing to do is report your lost baggage immediately. It is possible that your bags may still be aboard the carrier (that's governments for plane, train or bus).

If you report the loss in time, the carrier can be searched before it leaves for its next stop. If the bags are not found, the next thing to do is file a claim for lost baggage with the company. Usually you will be asked for your claim check number, so remember to keep your baggage tickets. Although statistics show that the percentage of luggage lost is very small compared with the amount shipped, filing a claim is the best way to try to get your baggage returned quickly.

When the baggage is found, the company will notify you so that you can pick it up. In certain circumstances, primarily airlines—deliver delayed baggage to your home, but that is a courtesy on their part.

Airlines usually have 3 days to find your luggage; bus companies allow themselves 30 days to conduct an investigation while trains have no special time frame. If the airlines find the luggage cannot be found, the company will evaluate your claim and determine how much to pay you for your loss.

With this in mind, if your luggage and its contents are worth more than the flat amount buses and trains will settle for, you might consider buying baggage insurance. Trains will insure your luggage up to $2,500 per adult ticket for lost luggage ($50 for children's tickets), and buses will pay $50 for an adult ticket ($25 for children).

If you notice that your luggage is damaged, report it to the company as soon as you discover it. No matter how minor damage claims if you wait too long to report them. For further information on luggage and air travel, you may want to order Air Travelers' Fly-Right, which is available free from Office of Consumer Affairs, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington, D.C. 20428.

For more information on buses, trains and luggage, write to Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423.

The FORUM

GUARD 30% OF DEFENSE MANPOWER, 5% OF COST

To the Editor:

We have seen dramatic progress away from war and in the direction of that general state of peace which is the goal of our nation.

At the same time, it would be folly for us to believe that we no longer need a national defense prepared to meet emergencies.

This is the time to increase our vigilance by reaffirming our dedication to the traditional concept of the citizen-military.

This will afford us a most effective defense organization at the lowest possible cost.

To achieve this we must have the understanding and support of all Americans — those who are in or join our Guard and Reserve, the families of these individuals as well as their employers.

In the case of employers, this could mean some reasonable adjustment in policy so that Guardmen and Reservists can play their part in this nation's "total force" for national defense.

Last June, President Nixon asked me to chair a special committee whose objective was to develop better public understanding of the vital role of the Guard and Reserve and to obtain the full cooperation of American employers in a national effort to encourage their employees to participate in the Guard and Reserve.

When I accepted this assignment, I was confident that, once the need was known, American employers would willingly give their support and establish personnel policies which would encourage employee participation in these important programs.

As the former chairman of the board of General Motors, I am happy to report I have been greatly encouraged by the early response received from companies, both large and small, and by the many personnel policies which evidence of employer support.

It is now Department of Defense policy that in any national buildup of the armed forces, the National Guard and Reserve and not the draft, would be the initial and primary contributing element for the active forces.

Under the "total force" concept, the all-volunteer force will be composed of 2.3 million active duty and 1 million selected reserve members.

In the past three years, equipment inventories of the Guard and Reserve, badly depleted during the Vietnam buildup of the active forces, have been replenished at an annual rate of more than $300 million.

In the next fiscal year, the equipment buildup will exceed $1 billion, and the total investment of the Guard and Reserve will be the largest in any single year of our history.

This addition of equipment is coming from existing resources. In addition, new missions have been developed, bringing Guard and Reserve components more in line with active duty counterparts.

These substantial investments, there has been an intensification of the readiness training of the Guard and Reserve units.

A well-equipped and fully-manned National Guard and Reserve, deployable on short notice, is potentially the most economical part of our defense system (30% of the manpower for less than 5% of the defense budget).

An effective Guard and Reserve is also the best guarantee against having to use a peacetime draft in future years.

As a member of the Guard and Selected Reserve one must devote a weekend a month, and two weeks each year, to training exercises.

Fortunately, there are employers who encourage their employees to participate in Guard and Reserve programs. Their encouragement comes in the assurance that there will be no discrimination against those employees in their consideration for advancement in the granting of military leave in addition to regular vacations; and in expressions of appreciation for their employees' contributions to the security of our nation.

I urge all Americans, particularly employers, to support this concept, a concept on which our nation was formed nearly 200 years ago and a concept which has retained our basic freedoms ever since.

China-Japan bloc stirs diplomats' speculation

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copy News Service

PEKING — The embassies of Asia are buzzing with speculation on a controversial new theory.

It goes like this: Eventually China and Japan will team up with their immense populations, raw materials and technological know-how to declare economic war on the rest of the world.

The situation, according to the theory, will be the fault of the United States for practicing protectionism and other restrictive trade and monetary policies that show favoritism to Europe and the Soviet Union.

The present five-sided world power arrangement — United States, Japan, Soviet Union, Europe, China — will be eroded.

Emerging instead, according to the theory, will be a bipolar confrontation along racial lines: Asians vs. Caucasians with the countries of Latin America and Africa neutralized because of their economic weakness.

Like most new theories, this one is built on a lot of "ifs." What is surprising is that the topic pops up as often here in Peking as it does in Tokyo or Hong Kong or Washington or Singapore.

At first glance, the political thinkers saw Japan and China as giant competitors on a collision course in the Southeast Asian marketplace.

But as the Vietnam war finally wound down, something happened that gave diplomats a cocktail circuit activist something else to chomp on besides canapés.

That something was the speed of the China-Japan rapprochement after the opening of the China door by the United States.

The experts were suddenly reminded of the great cultural affinity of the two countries transcending supposedly lingering suspicions from their war years.

At a reception at the Pakistan Embassy here one night, a European diplomat characterized the emerging power bloc situation in culinary terms: "It will boil down to a fight between those who use chopsticks on one side, and those who use knives and forks on the other."

China needs Japanese know-how to develop a backward economy. Officials of the Foreign Ministry here in Peking concede that while many of Tokyo's and Peking's markets are similar, there is room for both.

The hunch is that because it needs Japanese technology to develop, China will refrain from competing too harshly on a head-on fashion against the Japanese in Southeast Asia.

Cooperation with Japan will also give China some leverage and balance off Japan's encroaching, though cautious, cooperation with the Soviet Union.

Inside story of Nasser

Reviewed By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN

The title of this book suggests some "Pyramid Mysteries" might have been pursued by an Egyptian Daniel Ellsberg. That is not the case. Mohamed Heikal, editor of the Cairo newspaper, Al-Ahram, and a confidante and adviser of the late Gamal Abdel Nasser, has simply drawn on letters, state papers and his own notes and recollections to write an "inside" story of Nasser's encounters with some of the leading statesmen of his time.

Heikal's admiration for Nasser makes him a prejudiced witness, and the role of his newspaper as a quasi-official organ of government policy makes his book somewhat less than an objective source of history.

Still, it provides some illuminating footnotes to the events of a tumultuous era in the Middle East — an era that began when a military junta forced the abdication of King Farouk in 1952, and set the stage for an Egyptian colonel to become the dominant political figure in the Arab world for nearly two decades.

The portraits found here of Western statesmen who dealt with Nasser — or tried to — are mostly flattering, but Nasser himself does not fare much better. Heikal may be attempting to explain or justify Nasser's actions, but the book of Nasser which often exasperated Americans and Europeans, but what he has really explained is why Nasser failed to accomplish much of what he set out to do.

Pressure Is on Detroit To Build Clean Engine

By JON THOMPSON
Copley News Service

Sen. Edmund Muskie's 1970 Clean Air Act is behind it all, the full-speed gallop on behalf of the automobile makers to develop an engine, any old engine, that doesn't exhale nasty fumes.

The senator's bill tells the car people just how clean their new engines must burn, but, unfortunately, overlooks detailing just how these standards can be met.

What we have on our hands, then, is a plethora of old and new engine types now being considered or reconsidered by domestic and foreign makers, all of whom are eyeing each type very carefully in terms of weight, power, technological feasibility, cost—both to them and to us—and last but certainly not least, emission levels.

Here, then, are a few of the more favored possibilities. Rotary—Probably the most favored design at this point, the rotary or Wankel is now being mass-produced by both NSU in Germany and Mazda in Japan and soon will be pressed into service by Datsun, Toyota and General Motors.

Most of the Wankel's advantage is its size; it pumps considerable amounts of power but leaves enough room in the engine bay for the necessary add-on emission control equipment.

Its operational theory is really very simple. Instead of pistons, valves and all the rest, it has one or more triangle-shaped rotors.

The rotors revolve around a crankshaft in a space shaped like an oval with pinched-in sides.

No up and down movement means no wasted motion and virtually no vibration.

As the triangle spins, combustion is continuous, takes place, so that some phase of the combustion cycle is in progress on each side of the rotor at all times.

The big problems have involved sealing the rotor's tips but that has apparently now been solved and because of the engine's small size and relatively low combustion temperatures (and hence, low nitrous oxide-NOx-emissions) it is a sure bet to run strong for the life of the engine of the '80s.

Diesel—Invented by Rudolph Diesel at the turn of the century and perfected by Frederick Krupp of Essen, the German armaments firm, the diesel works much like a gas piston engine—but it uses a much cruder fuel, diesel oil, and uses no spark plugs.

Use after 1976, the year with the most stringent emissions requirements? Not really likely, says Mercedes-Benz, a major producer of automotive diesels. M-B says the '76 NOx standard are far out of reach for the diesel as currently envisioned.

Turbine—Much like a jet engine, Chrysler in the '50s and '60s invested considerable time, effort and capital into making

But the dreadful NOx requirements and the turbine's inherent size and weight all but remove it from serious contention.

Steam—It might have worked in a Stanley, but the drawbacks today are many.

Gas mileage is very poor and water mileage isn't much better. The steam engine is also very heavy and very bulky.

Central holds Career Week in phasing out

Thirteen resource people visited Central Junior High School during the initial week of the combined "phasing out of Central" and "Career Education Program" last week. In addition, four tours were made.

Some of the resource people who are alumni include Fred McCollegan of the "Razor's Edge," Christ Paschoff, retired manager of the Washington Theater and Jack Ezel of KMOX TV News Service.

Others who made demonstrations or presentations included Leo Konzen and Eric Robertson of the law firm of Lucerni, Robertson & Konzen on the subjects of "Law Day USA" and "Careers in the Law."

Mrs. Shirley Brown, director of information of the St. Louis County supervisor's office, on "Careers in Local Government."

Miss Bernice Stevens, school consultant for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. on "Teen Talk," Phil Melchic, Granite City High School, "Cooperative Education Program at Granite City High School," Henry Besser, Granite City High School, "Vocational Educational Program."

Ron Shaver and Eddie Handcock of the Razor's Edge, "Barbering and Hairstyling as a Career," Dr. L. H. Holt, local veterinarian, "The Many Facets of Becoming a Veterinarian," and Miss Norma Dillon, cosmetologist, representing the Revlon Company who spoke to the girls "On Becoming a Cosmetologist."

She also demonstrated the proper use of make-up and the care of the skin and hair.

McCollegan created interest among the students by simulating a "hairstyling" for one of the boys and told them that there are great opportunities in the field for the "less academically" minded students.

"Get all the education you can, however," he was quick to add, "because it will help you in understanding and dealing with your customers."

Paschoff brought a wealth of experience in successful theater managing to the boys and girls. Some of his advice was: "Don't be afraid to communicate with your employer, be courteous to the public and be steady on the job." "Always treat your employees fairly when you become a manager."

Ezel pointed out all of the "pros and cons" of news announcing. "It is essential that you move a lot when just getting started in this field," he said. He also said that a good news announcer in this area receives a salary comparable to that of a beginning doctor or lawyer.

Pink Floyd looks for ultimate sound in rock

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

It's hard to say exactly what makes a good rock and roll band click, but in Pink Floyd's case you could single out their constant searching for the ultimate sound.

Ever since Pink Floyd's inception back in 1964, the group has made outstanding, powerful and majestic music which give the listener a buzz emotionally as well as physically. And, "Dark Side of the Moon," the group's latest album for Harvest-Capitol Records, is no exception. It is loaded with Floyd's unique blend of space rock and free-flowing electric sounds.

Unlike many bands, Pink Floyd explored every facet of free-form psychedelic rock, dealing with it until they had become masters in technique and headlines in the field.

The group which consists of Roger Waters, bass guitar, vocals, VCS3, keyboards, Richard Wright, keyboards, vocals, VCS3; Nick Mason, percussion, tape effects and David Gilmour, vocals, guitars and VCS3, is perhaps best known for their haunting instrumental.

However, "Dark Side of the Moon" contains six vocal cuts, which is a rarity for them. Helping the boys out on harmonies and vocals and adding strength to the overall sound are Doris Troy, Leslie Duncan, Liza Strike, Barry St. John and Clare Torry. This new added dimension is sure to broaden the groups public appeal.

Things really started rolling in '69 as Waters, Wright and Gilmour started contributing heavily to the groups song-writing output. At the same time they put together a flawless 360-degree sound system which took advantage of the stereo spectrum in their recordings and also electrified the audiences in concert halls.

The fellows had become so proficient on their instruments and sound effects that people were hearing birds chirp from the rafters, rivers flowing down the isles and cash registers jingling nearby.

"Dark Side" is Pink Floyd's ninth LP, and although it has been out for only a few weeks it is already riding high on the charts and is bound to get even higher as it follows the group around America on a full scale concert tour. This mounting success is justification for all those years of plugging away. They are now a fully matured rock and roll band with a devastating stage and record presence.

For an extraordinary experience in space-rock try these cuts: "Money," "Us And Them," "Eclipse," "Breathes" and "Time," which are all vocals with lyrics that bear listening to. For some really powerful instrumental tracks try "Speak To Me," "On The Run," "The Great Gig In The Sky" and "Any Colour You Like." If you haven't seen or heard Pink Floyd you're missing one of the greatest groups that England ever spawned.

The flute has a light and delicate sound admirably suited for Mozart. But jazz? Herbie Mann is determined that the flute will swing, and swing it does on his latest Verve LP, "The Sound of a Flute." The thing about Mann's flute, it doesn't sound like a flute all the time; it takes on tinges of clarinet and trumpet. In any event this LP is a tour de force for the fluted Mann as he whips through standards like "Strife."

Son of former resident collects honors at CBC

Of the many members of the Class of '73 at Christian Brothers College at Clayton, Mo., to receive awards, appointments or grants, one of the outstanding is Joseph Michael Schneider, valedictorian of his class.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Schneider of Hazelwood, Mo. His mother is the former Marilyn Ogden of Granite City. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ogden, 2103 Amos Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Michel, 1915

Pontoon Road. In addition to receiving a full four-year Navy ROTC scholarship to Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass., he was also eligible for five other scholarships.

He was a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition and competed for scholarships because his father is employed by the firm.

Schneider also has a record of involvement in school-related activities. He is president of the National Honor Society chapter at CBC, and is a member of other honorary societies including Outstanding Teenagers of America, Who's Who's in American High School and the National Society of Student Leaders.

He has been captain of the debate team, is president of the school's chess club, editor of the editorial page of the school newspaper and has been member of the speech and bowling teams. He is a cadet major at the military institute.

Charles Mecum heads SIUE student body

Charles A. (Chuck) Mecum, a 21-year-old senior from Vandalia, has been elected president of the student body of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Mecum received 57% of the votes cast for presidential candidates during student elections. He defeated two other contenders, Danny Cross and a Charles Hoehn.

Bobby J. Anderson of East St. Louis was elected vice-president. He defeated Elsie Latham.

Four students were elected as senators-at-large to the Student Senate: Sue Bax, Doug Reid, Salem Haidery and Tyrone Haywood. They prevailed in a field of eleven candidates.

Chris Helms was elected as the geographic representative of the Edwardsville campus, and Ernestine Green was elected to represent the East St. Louis center of the University. They faced no opposition.

Wally Speers was elected to represent the Alton center. He defeated Nina North.

The students were elected to one-year terms beginning June 1. The legislative branch of student government is composed of 14 senators, the other seven of whom are elected in the fall. The system of semi-annual elections was introduced several years ago on student initiative, to preserve continuity in the government.

Nine loan funds, three scholarships formed

Donald L. Cooper of Poca-hontas, chairman of the Student Advisory Committee of the Southern Illinois University Foundation at Edwardsville, considered this past year the most successful of his three-year term on the committee.

"We have reached the point where we not only get good loans for the foundation — we really do something about them," he said at an early May luncheon of the committee in the International Room of the University Center.

Cooper's point was substantiated by E. S. Daniel, assistant treasurer of SIUE and the foundation, who reported that during the past year nine new loan funds had been established at the Edwardsville campus, and that during the last three weeks three new scholarships had been established. "It's one of the best years we've had," Daniel said.

"The new scholarships are in memory of three persons: Lee Hamby, a student at SIUE who was killed in an automobile accident; Jack Leonard, dean of the Business Division; and Millicent Palmer, a member of the library staff.

Col. Charles Schweizer, associate director of the SIUE Foundation, which includes both the Carbondale and local campuses, announced at the meeting that the SIUE branch of the foundation will present 63 awards at Honors Day, May 20.

Ethel Channon of East St. Louis read a report she prepared with Arno Ellis, Edwardsville, which suggested that eligibility for monetary assistance from the foundation be eased.

The report also strongly suggested that prospective donors be advised that there is a choice between setting up a scholarship — grant fund and a loan fund, "while it is clear that loans net the foundation more immediate return in terms of repayment, many students shy away from loans," Miss Channon said. "In the long run, the committee believes it feasible that students who received scholarship grants will precede the performances for Becky Habbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Habbrook, 3272 Edgewood Ave., the new May Queen.

Tickets for the ceremonies went on sale Monday. There will be no sale of tickets at the door and no reserved seats. Doors will be open at 7 p.m.

Chairman of the program is Nancy Klyasheff. The student committee chairman include Pat Davis, costumes; Jeanne Huff, tickets; Mary Jackson, stage; Kathy Leik, publicity; Mary Jo Luk, ushers; Barbara Matson, music; Jeanne Schwartzkopf, Jeanne Staicher, clean-up, and Anne Ann Yevlin, rehearsal.

The queen's court also will be introduced and take part in the ceremonies. Elected as first attendants were Becca Ashcraft, Janice DeWitt and second attendants, Pat Benjanski and Donna Portell.

Social responsibility a factor in safe driving

Social responsibility should be emphasized in driver education, Michael J. Howlett, Secretary of State, has told the Illinois High School and College Driver Education Association.

Howlett gave the welcoming address at the association's 21st state convention in the St. Nicholas Hotel at Springfield. Delegates attending represented 2,200 driver education teachers.

The complete revision will eliminate scenic color photos, simplify the language, and will be smaller and less expensive to print.

"More Americans have been killed in traffic accidents than in all our wars since the Revolution," he said.

"Most of the fatal accidents involved drivers who should not have been behind the wheel

MARK ORTIZ

Mark Ortiz to appear in Greek tragic play

Mark Ortiz, a 1972 graduate will appear in the presentation of "The Bacchae," a Greek tragedy by Euripides, at 8:30 p.m. May 15-16 in the Communication Building Theatre at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. A matinee also is to be arranged.

While in high school Ortiz was winner of the Masque & Gavel "Best Actor of 1972" award, was a member of the Forensic League and was a state qualifier in the 1972 state speech tourney.

He has just completed writing a play entitled "Mass," a socio-religious comment on life. He is majoring in theater.

The play involves a struggle between two proud, young men, Dionysus, a demi-god of revelry, and Pentheus, the king of Thebes. Unknown to themselves, they are cousins. The Bacchae are followers of Dionysus who compose the chorus of the play.

Calvo seeks sports, tv facilities for SIUE

New proposals seeking funds to construct a sports and recreation complex and a television station for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been introduced in the Illinois House by State Rep. Horace Calvo of Granite City. Legislation calls for $5 1/2 million for the sports structure and $500,000 to provide for live educational television from the local campus.

Neither of the proposals is in Gov. Walker's budget for SIUE or in requests of the state Board of Higher Education. A bill passed by the State Legislature last year which provided for TV facilities here and at other state universities was vetoed by Gov. Richard Ogilvie.

John Rendleman, SIUE president, said he supports Calvo's bills and would testify if asked but added that there are no or slim chances of passing. He said "We are getting tired of playing our basketball games in the Edwardsville High gym."

Children rank high at SIUE Day Care Center

The youngest "students" on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are in the three-to-five year age bracket. The children at the SIUE Day Care Center don't receive college credits for their activities, but interested observers indicate the youngsters rank high in achievement.

Most visitors to the center at least agree that the children are having a good time, and they're in an "atmosphere" which is conducive to learning. Mrs. Sandra LaVern Wilson, director of the Day Care Center, believes one of her prime responsibilities is to develop a positive attitude among the children toward the natural phenomena in every day living experiences.

Located in a former residence which has been adapted to the needs of a nursery school, the Day Care Center has a capacity of 32, and it has a full enrollment, with a waiting list of 16. The parents of the children are students at SIUE, and the original purpose of the facility was to provide a "baby-sitting" service to free the parents for class or work.

Today, as an official observation facility for the Education Division of SIUE, the center does more than serve student parents with a need for child care. With a well planned program based on the development of "positive self concepts," the center provides all-around experiences in growth and social development for pre-school children.

Visitors are likely to encounter four-year-old "artists" with long brushes and wearing art smocks, daubing water colors on 17 by 22-inch easels. Other youngsters may be watching a popular television show for children or feeding the turtles in the center's aquarium. Still others are likely to be using some of the center's music coordination and development equipment or observing the pair of guinea pigs which occupy a small pen beside the turtles.

Mrs. Wilson has two full-time assistants and a number of parent and community volunteers who help with the program. In addition, assistance is provided by students who are completing requirements for an associate degree in child-care services at SIUE.

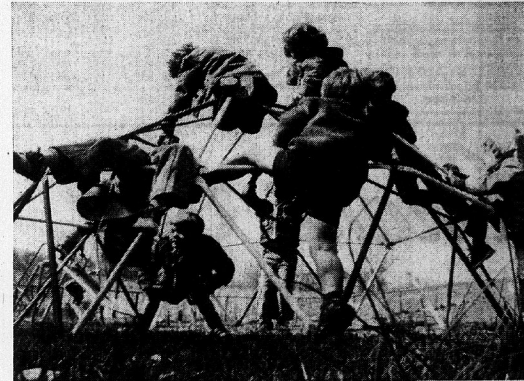

The center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and a fee of $14 a week is charged for each child. Snacks and milk are provided, but the children bring their own lunches. Two scholarships are given annually, based on financial need. One parent is required to work at least 15 hours per week for full-time enrollment of a child on a scholarship.

Children have a choice of indoor or outdoor recreational activities. Numerous educational type toys and equipment are provided. Field trips are a popular activity, and the children also enjoy visits from various "resource" people at the university. Sometimes musicians entertain and show the children the way their instruments work, and occasionally scientists bring live snakes, mice and other items for the pre-schoolers to observe.

"We try to encourage the children to have positive attitudes toward some of the natural phenomena which tend to frighten most youngsters," Mrs. Wilson said.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD "ARTIST" does his own thing with water colors and brushes at the Day Care Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The 32 children at the center have a variety of opportunities in developing language skills, arithmetic readiness, muscular coordination, and mental and social awareness.

GEODESIC CLIMBING APPARATUS at the Day Care Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is one of the most popular pieces of outdoor playground equipment available to the children. The three-to-five-year-olds have a choice of indoor or outdoor play activities.

In addition to art and music activities, muscular development and social growth, the development of language skills is considered an important part of the program. Arithmetic readiness also is emphasized.

An advisory board composed of four parents and three members of the SIUE faculty assists Mrs. Wilson and her staff in planning a program which meets the objectives of the center. Mrs. Wilson says the main problem is funding, and the board recently decided to launch a candy-selling campaign to supplement the budget. "We're going to try various alternatives to keep from raising fees if at all possible," Mrs. Wilson said.

Mrs. Wilson has a background of teaching experience in the public schools. She believes the "socialization of children" is an important learning activity. "At all times, we reinforce the concept of consideration of others, as an important step in a child's social development."

A comment by one of the four-year-olds apparently sums up the feeling of most of the children: "I like the turtles and the peanut butter and crackers and swings. And I like to play with Mike and Joey."

This astonishing eyeglass HEARING AID

HELPS YOU HEAR
WITH NOTHING
IN YOUR EAR

It is now possible for thousands of people to enjoy hearing again with nothing in either ear. NO buttons, NO tubes, NO wires, nothing in either ear. For thousands this aid may prove to be the best possible way to hear next to nature's own ears. Instead of forcing amplified sound through the impaired outer or middle ear, the patented "Rx-880" utilizing bone conduction delivers sound directly to the "hearing center," the inner ear. For many, even this technique may not be the answer. You must try it if you are ever to know.

The "Rx-880" is the result of 33 years of research. Made possible by a marvelous transitory — a development of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. To discover if the "Rx-880" can help you, write today to: ROBINSON ELECTRONICS, 806 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo. 63101 or Phone CH 1-0438.

I'M MAT MATSON
President of

Granite City Dodge

... and I'd like to introduce you to two members of Our Sales Organization, who I expect will be around for a good many years.

NICK HUNIAK
Like the rest of Our Salespeople, Nick lives in Granite City. Nick knows the people of the area, Nick knows cars. Nick likes cars, and people like Nick. He'll tell you about our cars and give you his own appraisal of yours. He's young and ambitious and is anxious to count you among his regular customers in the future.

STEVE RAINS
Steve is in charge of Our Leasing and Rental Department. A graduate of the Univ. of Missouri, Steve received his background in vehicle leasing at one of St. Louis' larger lease firms. Steve believes in leasing, but if he can't convince you of its advantages, he'll show you ways to save money on the purchase of a new Plymouth, Chrysler or Imperial.

I'll guarantee you that you won't find two nicer guys in the automobile business! They're just two more reasons why our dealership is the place to come; whether it's for sales, service or leasing — You'll like us! We're the EXTRA CARE PEOPLE!

The Sports Bug.

Better late than never: our own Sports Bug. With oversize radial tires. Mounted on mag-type wheels. True bucket seats. An Indy-type steering wheel. A short-throw stick shift. Four-wheel independent suspension. An air-cooled rear-mounted aluminum-magnesium alloy engine. Your choice of Marathon Silver Metallic paint, or Saturn Yellow. With jet black trimming all around.

Options? Plenty. Like flare-tip pipes. Racing stripes. Stereo radio. And more. If this sounds good to you, don't be late. Because we've made only a limited number of Sports Bugs. Late could be never.

In Loving Memory 33

IN LOVING MEMORY of IVAL FLOYD, who began eternal life May 12, 1972.

I always think of you dear, when the sun is shining bright. I dream of you my darling when the stars come out at night.

I hear your silent footsteps walk beside me every day. And I feel your hand in mine dear, when I kneel down to pray.

I know our Heavenly Father will keep you safely near. And we will be together soon throughout eternity.

Sadly missed by wife, children, grandchildren and sister.

Robert Black, librarian, Kiwanis guest speaker

Robert Black, librarian at the Granite City public library, addressed the Granite City Kiwanis Club Monday night at a regular meeting at Charlie's Restaurant, outlining the services of the library for residents of this area.

He is a graduate of Brigham Young University with a B.A., degree in Ancient and Near East history. Black wrote a column for a daily newspaper and was the co-ordinator of Adult Services of the Alton Public Library.

He spoke on the function of the local library and said the library has about one-fourth the circulation it should have, perhaps because the people do not know what is available.

Since the library is a member of the Lewis and Clark Library System, it has access to any book and is able to get a copy within at least two weeks if a request is made.

The library also participate with libraries in the St. Louis area and subscribes to many current magazines.

"There are reams of information for practical shopping, farming and farming methods, and horticulture available," he added.

Plans for the boat races July 5 at Horseshoe Lake were discussed. Bill Seebold again will serve as chairman and each member was assigned ads for the program booklet. The race this year will be a championship event and is expected to be one of the best in the eleven-year history of the club.

It was noted that newly formed Granite City Breakfast Kiwanis Club will assist at the boat races.

Tickets for the race will be $1 per car for a full afternoon's attendance. Herb Schannott will be in charge of the food concession and will be assisted by Mike Tondas.
